

Coronavirus precautions and track and trace.

During the current pandemic The Royal Philatelic Society London has put various safety measures in place to ensure the safety of members and visitors whilst on the premises. Please comply with the instructions of the door steward and read the 'Risk Assessment and Procedures for members and visitors' document that is available at reception and is on our website.

By signing this form you confirm that you have read that document, understand what you must do and agree to abide by those rules.

We are required to obtain your contact details so that you can be traced in the event of an outbreak associated with this building. Your details will be kept private, not used for any marketing purpose and will be destroyed once the pandemic is over or under control.
