THETFORD, Dr. Norman D. 1913-2008

Dr. Norman D. Thetford, a life-long philatelist, died on the 16th November 2008 in Eatontown, N.J. at the age of 94. He was born in Belleville, N.J. on the 6th December 1913.

His interest in philately began at the age of eight when he saw mail sent to his parents from missionaries all over the world. His specialties were the island of Tonga, the British Empire, maritime postmarks (Paquebots), and Traveling Post Office cancellations. He exhibited at many stamp shows and wrote numerous articles on philately. He was President of the Maritime Postmark Society for more than 50 years, a member of the American Philatelic Society for more than 50 years, and a Fellow of the Royal Philatelic Society of London.

Dr. Thetford was educated in the Belleville public schools. He received B.A. and M.D. degrees from Cornell University where he was a Knickerbacker Bursar.

From 1939 to 1947 he worked for the U.S. Public Health Service, stationed in St. Croix, U.S. Virgin Islands. He was the Quarantine officer for the port of Frederiksted, physician-in-charge for the Frederiksted Hospital, and ultimately Assistant Commissioner of Health of the Virgin Islands. He was a surgeon (Lieutenant Commander) in the Reserves of the U.S. Public Health Service until the age of 62.

From 1947 until his death, he resided in Eatontown where he had a general practice including obstetrics and surgery in the early years. He is survived by his wife of 70 years, Meda, and four children: Virginia Valiela, Norman A. Thetford, Lois Thetford, and Dr. Constance Hixson. THOMPSON, Michael Robert 1951-2023
Died on the 27th September 2023. After completing his education at Queen Mary College, London and working in the engineering industry for twenty years, he decided to change his employment direction completely in 1989, by taking a position at Harmers of London, stamp auctioneers of New Bond Street. When the Company relocated to Chiswick, West London in early 2000, he then accepted the position of Philatelic Book Department Manager at Vera Trinder Limited in Covent Garden, London in March 2000. After six years he moved to the Stamp Department at Bonhams (1793) Limited, auctioneers of Knightsbridge, London from where he took early retirement in December 2008.

Thompson has lived in Rosherville (between Gravesend and Northfleet in the Gravesham Borough) since the late 1970's and is very interested in Kent local history with special interest in Rosherville Gardens, Northfleet, Gravesend, Fawkham, Frittenden, Rolvenden and Rolvenden Layne, all in Kent. He is also interested in Lundy Island, in the Bristol Channel; The Kent & East Sussex Railway at Tenterden, Kent; The Channel Islands including Sark, Herm, Jethou and Lihou; and The Great Little Trains of Wales (Steam Railways). With regard to local history, he is a member of the Northfleet History Group.

He is also a member of the National Philatelic Society (Hon. President & Hon. Auctioneer); the Gravesend & District Stamp Club (Hon. President); the Malling Stamp Club; the North West Kent Postcard Club and the Lundy Collectors Club amongst others. Re: N.P.S. Auctions and Book Sales Lists

Dear Members

As you will realise after reading the "President's Piece" in the latest Stamp Lover, (June 2021), I do have an unfortunate medical problem.

The auction and book list: Unfortunately, I am very sorry to report that due to a medical issue, which has resulted in me having appointments at Medway Maritime hospital and in London, it is with great sadness that the July auction has had to be cancelled and the "U" Book list issue postponed until August, so they are not in this Stamp Lover."

This medical condition is being treated at the Medway Maritime hospital and hopefully things will get a lot better in the next couple of months.

I am very conscious that having run the auctions for very many years, when something like this happens it will have a very large impact on our Society and of course, on our members, if they are vendors or buyers, or both.

I do hope to have a large auction in the autumn (September – October) and hopefully this will also be our first meeting in London since the starting of the Covid-19 pandemic and restrictions.

History: I have run the auctions since 1997, when we had our meetings at Charterhouse Street and at that time had lots of help from members with :- 1) Printing of the catalogue, 2) Numbering of the auction lots, 3) Sending out the winning lots, 4) Doing the accounts and logging the cheques received etc., and finally 5) Sorting the vendors accounts and sending back the unsold lots etc.

When we moved out of Charterhouse Street (as the building was being sold), we moved to a rented office in Walthamstow, the help came with me. After a couple of years, due to transport problems we decided to close the office and the auction moved to my house in Gravesend. With some help, 4) and 5) being done by Raymond McCormick from his home. Raymond and his family moved away a few years ago and now Michael Coad banks the cheques for the Society. We thank everyone who has helped with the running of the 100s of auctions over the many years.

Concerning the Book Lists. We do have a storage unit in Dartford for the books, and each bi-monthly list takes approximately £400-£500.

Unfortunately, this has brought to a head the problem that the Society has been facing for quite a few years. Although we advertise the vacancies in Stamp Lover and also appeal for help with the running of the Society, asking for members to fill the vacant positions, we do not get many members coming forward. I am sure this is due to other commitments and also the problem that all Societies are now facing, that of advancing years of their membership. (I have had my Bus Pass for more than 10 years!).

I am sure these few words have given you all something to think about.

Stay safe and take care.

Michael R Thompson. (N.P.S. - Hon. President and Hon. Auctioneer).

It would appear that his full name was Raoul Charles de Thuin Knapen although he never used Knapen except in a pseudonym and his other names may have been anglicised. In France, his family name was given as Thouin. An ex-patriate Belgian who lived in various countries in South America but is best known for trading as the Maya Shop from Yucatan, Mexico. He specialised in forging rare surcharges, overprints and postmarks on Mexican and other Central American stamps. His activities ran from at least 1909 to the mid 1960s, trading under many names including Knapen and Mlle. Gualandi, the latter being the name of his fiancé at the time.

In 1967, the American Philatelic Society purchased his forgery materials on the basis that he ceased operations. Six years later, he was reported to have continued the business from Guayaquil, Ecuador.

TIFFANY, John Kerr 1842-1897
Born on the 9th February 1842. Died on the 3rd March 1897 at the age of 55. Brother of Dexter Pardon Tiffany. Husband of Caroline Tiffany who died in 1871. Husband of Madge Tiffany.

As possibly the earliest collector of philatelic literature, he amassed what was probably the most complete library of philatelic publications and ephemera in the World in the nineteenth century. His advertisements and worldwide correspondence were prolific and he was free with his duplicates both in exchanges and to induce others to gather all of the philatelic material they could find. (The Monthly Chronicle, July 1876, Volume 1, Issue 7, p.5; Bulletin de La Société Française de Timbrologie, September 1877, Volume 1, Issue 9, p.242.) He suggested that philatelists not only required their own working library but also a consulting library which should contain a copy of everything ever published relating to philately. (J. K. Tiffany: English stamp publications., The Stamp News Annual, 1894, pp.40-48.) For many years, he subscribed to all periodicals at home and abroad. (The Australian Stamp News, April 1894, Volume 1, Issue 10, p.77.) He used the pseudonym A Timbrophilist when writing a letter to The Missouri Republican on the 5th February 1870, regarding the St. Louis Postmaster's stamps.

Prior to his death on the 3rd March 1897, Tiffany had expressed the wish that his library be presented to some Institution in the United States who would keep it intact. However, no such Institution could be found by Tiffany's only brother Dexter, who had been charged by Tiffany's wife to deal with the library. Hiram E. Deats was said to have shown an interest in the library and valued it at $8-9,000. The library consisted of 909 bound and 136 unbound volumes and was accompanied by a card index to every article in every book in the library. Dexter indicated that no offer under $10,000 (then £2,000) would be considered and in 1901, the Earl of Crawford agreed to this price, using Charles Phillips as his agent. When crated, the library filled 39 large packing cases which were delivered to the Earl's London home at 2 Cavendish Square by American Express on the 28th June 1901. The total price paid for the library was £2,000 plus Phillips' commission £100 (5%) and carriage £53 15s 1d (later reduced following a complaint by Phillips to £35 7s 4d). Once the library was merged with that of the Earl, he donated the duplicates to the [Royal] Philatelic Society London.

Following the Earl's death, the greatly expanded library was bequeathed to the British Museum. The books and prints held by the museum became the British Library, which holds the Earl's library intact to this day.

John Kerr Tiffany was one of the Fathers of Philately, whose names were appended to the Roll of Distinguished Philatelists as a remembrance of those philatelists in the past who would have certainly been eligible to sign the Roll had they still been alive. In 2013, the present writer was commissioned to write the biographies of the Fathers for a then forthcoming publication about the Roll and its signatories. This necessitated a great deal of research and the collection of many references, some of which were mere snippets which occasionally provided information not found elsewhere. I also followed up and collected all references I found in the periodical indexes I had available to me. All of the reference I accumulated relating to Tiffany, large or small, useful or not, are listed hereunder. They form a bibliography relating to his life and when taken together with those of all of the other Fathers, a bibliography to their part of the book.

TILLEARD, John Alexander 1850-1913

He joined the Philatelic Society, London, in 1887 and became Secretary in 1894, a position he retained until his death. He donated a run of Le Timbre-Poste to the library, the event being recorded in the first volume. He was the first person to be appointed philatelist to King George V of Great Britain in 1910. He was Keeper of the Royal collection until his death. His library was sold by Puttick & Simpson in January 1914.

John Alexander Tilleard was one of the Fathers of Philately, whose names were appended to the Roll of Distinguished Philatelists as a remembrance of those philatelists in the past who would have certainly been eligible to sign the Roll had they still been alive. In 2013, the present writer was commissioned to write the biographies of the Fathers for a then forthcoming publication about the Roll and its signatories. TINSLEY, Walton Eugene 1921-1999

Walton Eugene [Gene] Tinsley, Fellow of the Royal Philatelic Society of London, signatory of the Roll of Distinguished Philatelists, and author of Tasmania - Stamps and Postal History, passed away on the 12th of April 1999 at his home of 38 years in Los Angeles, California.

Gene was born on the 22nd of January 1921 in Vanceburg, Kentucky. He received a Bachelors degree in Electrical Engineering from the University of Cincinnati and a Masters in Aeronautical Engineering from New York University. Early in his career, he applied his expertise to various projects at the Naval Weapon Systems Facilities at Point Mugu and China

Lake, California. Later, he received a law degree from the University of Southern California and specialized in the field of patent law. He was a partner in the Los Angeles patent law firm of Harris, Wallen, MacDermott, & Tinsley.

In 1965, Gene was appointed by the President of the American Philatelic Society to the Committee of Five, which was chartered to put the notorious philatelic counterfeiter, Raoul de Thuin, out of business. De Thuin had been involved in his forgery activities for over 50 years and had been operating under the framework of Mexican law for better that 25 years. The Committee ended up by purchasing all of de Thuin's operations for the American Philatelic Society and constructed a binding and enforceable contract barring him from continuing his fraudulent practices. This entire affair was documented in 1974 under the title the Yucatan Affair and published by the American Philatelic Society.

Gene was the American Philatelic Society attorney between 1961 and 1965 and received the John N. Luff Award for his service to the Society. Other philatelic involvements included the collectors Club of Southern California, Federated Philatelic Clubs of Southern California, Mexico-Elmhurst Philatelic Society, and most recently as President of the World Philatelic Exhibition, PACIFIC 97.

Despite his failing health over the past two years, he remained active in philately. He recently received a Large Vermeil award for his exhibit of Pictorial Letter Cards of Tasmania at AUSTRALIA 99 and had submitted an application to exhibit at Stamp Show 2000 in London. He continued to enjoy attending the opera and visiting various museums and art exhibitions in the Los Angeles area.

Joy Tinsley, his wife of 49 years, a daughter Mary, and two sons, Paul and Troy, survive him. A memorial service was held the Silver Lake Presbyterian Church in Los Angeles on the 19th of April. Burial was at Forest Lawn Memorial Park in Glendale, California. (Adapted from an obituary circulated by James A. Bowman.)

TON, Max Karl Wilhelm Theodor Johann Constantin 1882-1951

Born on the 21st January 1882 in Weimar, Germany. He was a prolific author who published the Handbuch der Deutschen Philatelistischen Literatur in two editions: Dresden, 1916 and 1918.

Ton was nearly blind from 1928 and Maassen has an archive file on Ton dating from the thirties (given to him by Christa Grobe) in which were found several letters from Ton to Mr. Grobe all claiming that he needed more money for his work. These suggested that, being virtually or actually blind, he relied on the income from his articles to support himself at this time. He used the pseudonym Cantus.

He claimed to have been born on the 27th December 1850 although this is in doubt and he seems to have been born in 1848. He is said to have been born a foundling and named Ramón Antonio Plácido de Torres but without the usual mother's name given in Spain. He reversed the order of his names to make it appear that his father's name was Ramón and his mother's de Torres. Used the alias Rosendo Fernandez or Rosondo Fernandez when trading in forged stamps in the United States.

TURNER, G. T.

Brother of Sidney Robert Turner.

TURNER Jr., George Townsend 1906-1979

Born on the 11th February 1906. Died of a heart attack on the 14th August 1979 at the age of 73. He was a chemist by profession, earning both a Batchelor's and Master's degree from Cornell University. From 1931 to 1958, he worked at a number of industrial companies until being appointed Curator of the Division of Philately at the Smithsonian Institution.

The greatest philatelic bibliophile of his day. He collected on a massive scale, attempting to obtain every philatelic publication in existence. His method included purchasing many complete libraries and selling the large numbers of duplicates through Sylvester Colby auctions as named sales. He also sold duplicates privately and circulated lists of the items he had for sale. His first major acquisition was the library of William Carlos Stone in 1939, which weighed about two tons. In the mid 1940s, he helped Bluss acquire the Ricketts Library. He purchased many other libraries including that of the British philatelist Vincent Arthur Cazalet. He also advertised for individual copies of periodicals, generally on the rear pages of the Philatelic Literature Review from 1943 to at least 1947. The early ones are detailed in Turner's wantlist., Philatelic Literature Review, January 1945, Volume 3, Issue 3, p.11.

He was also a collector of bookplates and had his own produced by Harry Peckmore. Herb Trenchard said that he never attempted to put copies in all of his books, only a few coffee table copies he kept about for visitors. I have been unable to trace what happened to his collection, certainly Koerber had it at the time of the auction since they were used as a background on the inside front and rear covers of the auction catalogue of his library but did not figure as a separate lot in the auction itself. Herb thought that the trials and proofs of his bookplates might have been sold privately to Barbara Mueller. Bill Hagan claimed to have a proof of the bookplate.

As for his library, Turner and many other famous collectors were just that, collectors. Turner wrote little on philatelic literature, but he produced a thick stamp or revenues book. What they do is "lie in the weeds" as they say, always ready with a devastating critique of anyone who dares write on "their" subject. Turner used to write me highly critical letters many of which were silly. I remember one where he claimed that a particular book was not rare as he had 135 (or such huge number) of them. Well sure, it wasn't rare for him, but the rest of the world hadn't seen a copy for years. (Private communication from Bill Hagan, 13th December 2004.)

Price List

1946 Duplicate Periodicals for Sale., 16th May 1946, 38pp. (Mine is a photocopy of a typescript inscribed 2nd copy – Marked off to agree with original. I also have a photocopy inscribed 3rd Copy.)

When you ask about what happened to Turner's collection a very interesting story comes out. Herb Trenchard was the philatelic advisor to the estate. He had permission to take those auction catalogs that he wanted. He spent many a night removing items he required from important runs. There was concern that these lots would bomb for this reason. Turner was a highly opinionated man who made lots of enemies. One of them was the American Philatelic Society. He was determined that they would get nothing from his estate unless they bought it at auction. He donated some (3,000 titles is what I'm told) to a part of the Smithsonian. Initially the holding went to a huge museum featuring American life found on the mall in DC. The philatelic section was buried off limits on a top floor until the Smithsonian opened its separate Postal Museum right next to Union Station. I assume this second part of his collection is still there. I think I sent you a copy of this donation in two brownish envelopes. I received it incognito from a staff member with no letter or indication of who sent it. (Private communication from Bill Hagan, 13th December 2004.)

Amongst the items taken by the Smithsonian was Turner's card catalogue of his library (and wanted items) on 3 inch x 5 inch cards, as well as Ralph A. Kimble's subject index to articles appearing in the philatelic press from 1935 to 1950.

… the transport of George Turner's accumulation took 20 lorries … George was an accumulator, - he had multiple sets of very many top journals – for instance, CCP [Collectors Club Philatelist], LP [London Philatelist], AP [American Philatelist] and the like. He bought everything. It must have been the heaviest philatelic library ever – and for evermore I'd think. (Private communication with Harry Hayes, 29th March 2001.)

His library was purchased through tender by Roger Koerber and sold by auction on the 1st and 2nd of May 1981. It was stated to weigh over 12 tons and fetched $250,000. (Roger Koerber advertising pamphlet, 1981.) Although Turner had a special bookplate made, he did not attempt to put one in every book he owned, only a few that he left around his home as conversation pieces for visitors. The extra bookplates were placed in his books just prior to the sale. Only Turner lots got bookplates if they were not already there. Many were placed loose inside the front cover of the early material by Bill Hagan and not stuck in, to preserve text or the inside of the cover.

Turner once claimed to be a member of over 330 societies. When his library was sold, there was masses of it stacked in boxes much of it of little permanent interest such as auction catalogue runs of mediocre dealers who just sold mint stamps. Herb Trenchard was the philatelic advisor to the estate. He had permission to take those auction catalogs that he wanted. Turner also donated some (3,000 titles is what I'm told) to the Smithsonian. Initially this holding went to a huge museum featuring American life found on the mall in DC. The philatelic section was buried off limits on a top floor until the Smithsonian opened its separate Postal Museum right next to Union Station. The third part went to Koerber. As far as I know, only Leonard Hartmann made a serious effort to purchase the library, with him and Roger bidding at the estate's lawyers' premises. The sale price was just over $45,000. Of this third part that Roger Koerber got, he insisted that any good handbook had to be put in his library. So some of Turner's material ended up there temporarily, to then be sold in Roger's own library sale after his death. I remember taking a copy of Napier's Brazil for sure plus others. At the wild prices reached at the sale it's not unreasonable to assume this would have reached $1000, or more. Once Roger bought the library, his sons and perhaps Don Pfau, piled the material in a haphazard manner. Runs of periodicals were in several boxes. It made the writing lots extremely difficult. You would write a description to find several years before or after or both. All boxes were piled around the corner on the other side of the building. As Don and I worked on the sale Roger became more and more animated. He was desperate for money as usual. He pleaded with me to get Don to finish the sale or finish it myself. Don Pfau simply would not stop. He was going to put in everything but the kitchen sink. He even got Roger excited one day. He made up perhaps 15 identical lots (lot 3019) each with 19 of his Zeppelin auction catalogs. They all sold. (Private communication from Bill Hagan, 2003.)

Remnants of the library and unsold items were sold in Koerber's sale of March 1982.

TYLER, Dr. Paul E. 1930/31-2013

Paul Tyler, a resident of Albuquerque and former resident of Potomac, passed away on the 5th of February 2013 aged 82. He is survived by his wife of 56 years,Wynell B. Tyler of Albuquerque, his children, Cheryl Wise and her husband Scott of Rio Rancho, NM; Paul

Gregory Tyler and his wife Lei Xiao of Gainesville, FL; his grandchildren, Stephanie Tyler, Cody Naff, Kenneth Naff, Katherine Naff, and Kalob Naff; his brother David Tyler and his wife Marcia; his nephew Robert Tyler and his wife Kara.

Paul graduated from the University of Colorado Medical School and then returned to active duty with the US Navy. His first duty station was as a staff Medical Officer (Pediatrician) at China Lake Naval Ordinance Test Station, China Lake, CA. He was then sent to Flight school and served as the Flight Surgeon for the Antarctic Task Force for 5 years, over-wintering on the ice one year and going back and forth from Christchurch, New Zealand to the various stations on the ice for the next 4 years.

When his Antarctic tours ended, he went to graduate school at the University of Rochester, Rochester, NY and earned a Masters' degree in Radiation biology. He was then assigned to the Navy Bureau of Medicine in Washington, DC. While there he also served on various NATO committees. Then he went to NMRI – the Navy Medical Research Institute, becoming Deputy Director and then Director of AFRRI, the Armed Services Radiobiology Research Institute. His last duty station was as Special Assistant to the commanding Officer, Naval Medical research and Development Command, Bethesda, MD. Paul retired from the Navy in August 1986.

We moved to Albuquerque in 1991 and Paul rekindled his interest in Philately. He was a collector, an exhibitor, and a judge. He was active in many of the stamp associations, serving in many leadership roles. Paul developed a wonderful New Zealand exhibit which won innumerable Gold and Best in Show awards nationally and internationally.

As his interest in stamps diminished, after having achieved so much recognition, he resumed his interest in all the Masonic organizations. His primary focus was working with the DeMolays, the young men's branch of Masonry. Paul was Chairman of the Mesa Chapter Advisory Council. He was recently awarded the Legion of Honor. He was a Chevalier and a past Master Counselor himself. Paul was Dad Tyler to many young men.

Paul also taught medical ethics at the Uniformed Services Medical School, then at the University of New Mexico, and at Menaul School.

Since the Popejoy Volunteer Program was established, Paul and Wynell have been volunteers. He served on Popejoy's Leadership Team, but he was especially involved in the School program. Paul's interests and involvement in all these activities kept him busier than he had ever been.

A Memorial Service was held on the 30th March, 2013 at Covenant Presbyterian Church in Albuquerque, NM. Interment took place at the Santa Fe National Cemetery on the 1st April. (Based on a family obituary circulated by Alan Warren on the 10th March 2013.)

URCH, HARRIS & COMPANY Ltd.

Founded in 1964 in Bristol, UK by Joe O. Urch and Geoffrey O. Harris (who left the business in 1965). It grew to become one of the largest stamp businesses in the UK. The Company purchased Harris Publications in 1967. Two years later, Harris Publications was sold to Stamp Collecting to allow the Company to concentrate on the stamp dealing business. It held Philatelists Ltd. as a subsidiary. The Company was acquired by Rushstamps in about 1980. In 1994, it went into receivership and was purchased by Stanley Gibbons Ltd. Retained by Flying Brands Ltd. when they sold Stanley Gibbons Ltd., they eventually sold it to Gibbons with their other philatelic brands in 2010.

Harris (4)

VALLANCEY, Francis Hugh 1877-1950

Born on the 7th November 1877. Died on the 6th September 1950. Brother of Captain William Bertram Vallancey. His elder brother C. R. A. Vallancey, an accountant in New York was knocked down by a car and died on Christmas Day 1942. His youngest brother was killed by a lorry in Mexico. Father of Miss C. R. Vallancey. He managed the business of Mr. Francis Hodgson, publisher of educational books and periodicals for several years, prior to taking over the business in 1917. His philatelic literature business, the Vallancey Press, was undertaken in parallel with the educational publications.

Vallancey became one of the most important philatelic literature dealers in the world from about 1915 to 1950. He took over Stamp Collecting when the publishers joined the armed forces during the First World War and maintained it until 1932. He also published the Stamp Trade Advertiser. In 1919 he founded the London Stamp Club in Philately House, St. Bride Street, London, UK, where he kept his stock of literature. The Philately House and all of his stock was destroyed by enemy action on the 11th January 1941 when it burned to the ground. This lead to him selling his huge 100-volume collection of British stamps to provide the capital to pay off his debts. He spent the rest of the War years selling his remaining stamps and private library. Although he publicly stated that he was not in the market for purchasing either literature or stamps, he bought Samuel Chapman's library in 1942 and that of Lt. Col. Reginald Nesbitt Wingfield Larking in 1945. In late 1945, fearing boredom in his enforced retirement, he re-established his business in partnership with his wife. In January 1947, he purchased the obsolete stock of Harris Publications when it changed its policy with regard to the literature it stocked. Early in 1948, he purchased the philatelic literature held by the Birmingham Museum, presumably primarily the library of T. D. F. Evans, whose collection it held. He also acquired many duplicates from the Royal Philatelic Society, London library and the Junior Philatelic Society library. At almost the same time, he sold most of his stock of periodicals, many from the Bellamy library, to H. Garratt-Adams. In late 1948, he sold his business and remaining stock to Ramsay Stewart of Edinburgh.

His private library was sold through Postal History Auctions in 1951. The residue of his library was donated to the Royal Commonwealth Society.

Note: Owing to the large number of significant biographies available for Vallancey, in 2008, I decided not to list any more minor biographies unless they contained first hand information or information I had not read before.

He was employed in 1880, at the age of twelve, as an office boy by the stamp firm of Buckley,

Blunsum & Company of Sydney, Australia. Two years later, in March 1882, he purchased the Company. The stamp business fell on hard times and he tried other occupations, returning to stamp dealing in about 1888. As the business grew, Frederick Hagen joined as a partner. Vindin ceased to be associated with the Company in October 1893, owing to the New South Wales Laureate issue scandal in which private reprints were passed off as remainders. In 1919, he he advised that he was about to open a shop in Holborn, London.

VINER, Dr. Charles William 1812-1906

Born on the 17th April 1812. Died on the 14th March 1906 at the age of 93.

After his schooling, he joined his father's boarding school in Bath, eventually taking it over following his father's death in 1842. He disposed of the school in 1854 and moved to London as a tutor. During his tenure at the school, he continued his education on the Continent and acquired his LLD which resulted in his being almost universally referred to as Dr. Viner thereafter.

An early stamp collector, his interest was provoked by saving stamps for a friend in about 1855. He began to collect stamps in 1860 and was a frequent visitor to the exchange in Change Alley even being taken to a police station on one occasion on the charge of obstructing traffic. In 1863, he became the first editor of The Stamp Collector's Magazine for Stafford Smith & Smith.

Although he edited the first four volumes of The Stamp Collector's Magazine, it was not until he had given it up and was editing The Philatelist that he first met Stafford Smith, its publisher. After The Philatelist ceased publication, he edited its successor, The Philatelic Quarterly. In 1866, he edited the 8th edition of Oppen's Album, continuing this until the 32nd edition, after which the publisher gave up owing to its ever increasing bulk and cost. Viner's other publications included an English translation of Moens' Timbres-Poste Illustrés, the single issue of his own journal Philotypist and The Stamp Collectors' Annual of 1881. Apart from his editing work, he wrote an occasional article of philatelic reminiscences. He was a founder-member of the Philatelic Society, London and following his revival of the Society in 1871, many of its meetings were held in his house in Pimlico over the next few years.

The Crawford Library contains a Prospectus for The London, Provincial, Colonial and Continental Stamp Company, published in 1864, on which Dr. Viner is shown as the Treasurer. Attached to the Prospectus is a handwritten note from Dr. Viner as Follows:

> This affair came to grief. In the original Prospectus, my name was inserted as Director without any authority from me - I was on the Continent at the time. When I heard thereof, I insisted on its being withdrawn. I was then placed as Treasurer; but I never touched or even saw a penny of the money subscribed, or had anything at all to do with the pecuniary transactions. C. W. Viner*.*

Dr. Charles William Viner was one of the Fathers of Philately, whose names were appended to the Roll of Distinguished Philatelists as a remembrance of those philatelists in the past who would have certainly been eligible to sign the Roll had they still been alive. In 2013, the present writer was commissioned to write the biographies of the Fathers for a then forthcoming publication about the Roll and its signatories. This necessitated a great deal of research and the collection of many references, some of which were mere snippets which occasionally provided information not found elsewhere. I also followed up and collected all references I found in the periodical indexes I had available to me. All of the reference I accumulated relating to Viner, large or small, useful or not, are listed hereunder. They form a bibliography relating to his life and when taken together with those of all of the other Fathers, a bibliography to their part of the book.

VOOYS, Daniel William 1914-1978

Daniel William Vooys was born on the 22nd July 1914 at New York City, to Daniel Joseph Vooys and Matilda Patricia Vooys, nee Harlow. Shortly after his birth, the family moved to Canajoharie, New York, of which he was always thought of as a native. He graduated from the Bentley School of Accounting and finance of Boston, Massachusetts and began a career in banking. In 1936, he joined the National Spraker Bank of Canajoharie, being appointed Assistant Cashier in January 1940. In August of that year he became the Assistant National Bank Examiner for the 2nd Federal Reserve District.

He married Grace E. Edick (1919-2009) in the spring of 1941 and together they had two sons: Daniel F. Vooys (September 1942-) and James D. Vooys.

With war imminent, Vooys joined up in 1941, serving first with the Field Artillery and Finance Department. Having attended Officer Candidate School, he was commissioned second Lieutenant in January 1943. He was released from active service in March 1946 with the rank of Captain. However, he remained on the active reserve in the Adjutant General Corps until his release in December 1952.

Upon his initial release from military service in 1946, he was appointed Auditor of the First National Bank of Canajoharie. He then rose to Assistant Vice-President in June 1948, Assistant Vice-President and Trust Officer in January 1952 and finally Vice-President and Trust Officer of the Central National Bank in June 1955. On the 1st May 1957 he was appointed Vice-President and Cashier of the First National Bank of Jamestown and in 1960, he was appointed to the Board of Directors. Finally, in 1964 he was appointed President and Chief Executive Officer of the Central National Bank of Canajoharie. At the time of his retirement on 1st August 1977, he was Chairman of the Board and Chief Executive Officer of the Bank of New York, Capital Region.

Although he began to collect stamps at the age of twelve, he quickly appreciated that the literature was the key to the hobby. By the age of twenty-three he had joined the American Philatelic Society, one of the many societies and clubs he joined. These included the Collectors' Club of New York, Society of Philatelic Americans, American Philatelic Congress, United Postal Stationery Society and the Germany Philatelic Society. He also joined foreign societies such as the National Philatelic Society of London and the Association International des Journalistes Philatéliques. With his characteristic drive and vision, he was a Founder of the Fine Arts Unit of the American Topical Association which he initially financed and became its first President, with membership number 1, and the Cardinal Spellman Philatelic Museum.

Nevertheless, his main interest was philatelic literature and in 1942, whilst still in military service, he founded the Philatelic Library Association with Lucius J. Jackson (1915-1978). In spite of the War, he began to publish The Philatelic Literature Review, of which he was editor from 1942 to 1956 and again from 1963 to 1970. He also undertook the roles of President and Secretary at times. Having given up the role of editor, he sold most of his library between 1956 and 1957. However, he soon began to assemble it anew. In 1956, he received the Luff Award from the American Philatelic Society for his exceptional contribution to philately.

From 1965 to 1977, he served the American Philatelic Society in many capacities including two terms as its President from 1969-1973. The Society had originally formed a library but in the days before it had a permanent home, the library was in the keeping of the Carnegie Library of Pittsburgh to which it was eventually given in 1929. Vooys campaigned hard to get the Society to reinstate its library and in 1970 he became one of the founders of the American Philatelic Research Library. In order to establish the Library, he donated nearly half of his reformed library – about three tons of books and journals. He also merged the Philatelic Library Association into the American Philatelic Research Library, making the Philatelic Literature Review its journal. He became President of the Library in 1975, a position he held until his death.

Vooys was elevated to the Philatelic Writers' Hall of Fame in 1975.

Having been ill for a long time, Daniel W. Vooys died on the 23rd September 1978 in New York at the age of sixty-four. His death coincided with the announcement that he had been awarded a second Luff Award for Outstanding Services to the Society. In anticipation of his death, the Society had taken steps to advise him of the Award shortly before it was due to be announced. Following his death, the remainder of his library was donated to the APRL together with his index to the fifteen thousand or so periodicals he had collected At the same time, the Daniel W. Vooys Fund was established to provide continued support to the Library.

In 1980 he was elected to the American Philatelic Society Hall of Fame.

A further fund-raising campaign to support the APRL was initiated in 2007. It included the designation Daniel W. Vooys Fellow to anyone undertaking to donate $5,000 over the succeeding five years.

WALSKE, Carl 1922-2009
Father of Steven Carl Walske. His library was sold through Schuyler J. Rumsey Auctions in 2010.

Carl Walske was among the leading collectors and researchers of philatelic forgeries. For over fifty years, he studied the forgeries of stamps and their forgers, and was particularly interested in the production methods used for various forgeries and in the relationships between forgers. He was well known for his work in identifying new types of Sperati forgeries, and was perhaps the greatest student of Jean de Sperati, the most dangerous forger in philately.

Born on June 2, 1922 in Seattle, Washington, Carl served with the United States Navy in the Pacific during 1943-45. In 1951, he received his PhD in Nuclear Physics from Cornell University, where he studied under Nobel-prizewinner Hans Bethe. He started his career at the Los Alamos Scientific Laboratory, and later served as the Assistant to the Secretary of Defense for Atomic Energy. His career also took him overseas as Scientific Advisor to the Nuclear Test Ban Treaty talks in Geneva, Switzerland and to scientific advisory positions in London and Paris. In his last job, as President of the Atomic Industrial Forum, he promoted the peaceful uses of atomic energy. Carl retired to Seattle in 1987, where he passed away peacefully after a short illness on May 30, 2009.

Carl wrote many articles on forgeries and forgers, and also co-authored (with his good friend, Robson Lowe) two critically acclaimed books; The Oneglia Engraved Forgeries, Commonly Attributed to Angelo Panelli (1996), and The Work of Jean de Sperati II, including Previously Unlisted Forgeries (2001).

Carl was a member of the American Philatelic Society and the Collectors Club of New York. He was also a Fellow of the Royal Philatelic Society London.

He leaves his wife Marjorie, daughter Susan Cabiati and son Steven, whom he also enticed into philately. He particularly enjoyed sharing philately with his son, but frequently complained that the study of forgeries and postal history were at opposite polar ends of philately.

When asked to explain his low-profile professional and philatelic persona, he explained that he tried to gain my reward through self-respect rather than public recognition; to expend effort as an offset to my limitations. (Obituary circulated by his son, 9th June 2009.)

WARHURST, Benjamin Webster 1845-1911
He died on the 10th April 1911 at the age of 66. He was averse to having his name on anything he wrote and accordingly, most of his contributions to the philatelic literature are either anonymous or under a pseudonym. Although he edited Stamps (from volume 4 of 1900) under his own name, that was owing to the wishes of the publisher. Edward Benjamin Evans, when editor of Stanley Gibbons Monthly Journal, sometimes used his name but generally referred to him as A Correspondent.

He used the pseudonyms Ben, The Senior and possibly The Veteran in Stamps. The Senior and Ben were also used for his articles in Picture Postcard between July 1902 and January 1903, as well as B.W.W. He used the pseudonym Hawk-Eye when writing in The Stamp Collectors' Fortnightly. He edited Stamps, The Philatelic Journal of Great Britain and The Stamp Collector.

He did not compete nationally but he did show his Wiltshire postal history to many local stamp clubs and called himself Moonraker for those displays. The term relates to the cunning of Wiltshire men. It is a legendary tale to do with excise men being duped by 18th century locals pretending they were raking a pond to catch the reflected moon, rather than recover the barrels of smuggled brandy hidden in the pond.

WENNBERG, Seth Harry Rudolf 1872-1927
Known as Harry Wennberg. Founded the firm of Harry Wennberg AB. Grandfather of Tomas Bjäringer.

Seth Harry Rudolf Wennberg, born March 4, 1872 in Göteryds parish, died January 4, 1927 in Stockholm, was a Swedish businessman and philatelist.

Harry Wennberg was the son of the engineer Wilhelm Wennberg and Augusta Wilhelmina Millrath. In 1892 he founded his own business in Stockholm in the stamp industry. It was later transformed into AB Harry Wennberg, which he headed until his death. He was a prominent philatelist and his company was the most important in the industry in Sweden at the time. For many years he was also one of the leading men in the Swedish Philatelic Society. From 1924 he was Consul General for Panama. Wennberg took a keen interest in Sweden's defence and worked energetically for the development and maintenance of the land forces during and after the First World War. Among other things, he was the originator of the landstorm (militia) stamps and, in 1916-1920, one of the leading forces in Crown Princess Margareta's association for militia uniforms. When Parliament withdrew funding for this after the end of the war, Wennberg founded the Central Association for the Preservation of the Land Storm Guarantee Association in 1921. He also formed the KG Committee, which raised funds for the purchase of machine guns for the army. He was also active in providing Swedish pilots with parachutes. From 1918 he was head of propaganda and treasurer of the board of the Swedish Flag Day, where he started the so-called Feriehemsfonden for the establishment of summer homes for schoolchildren in Stockholm.

WESTOBY, William Amos Scarborough 1815-1899
See also under Frederick Adolphus Philbrick with whom he wrote a classic book on British stamps.

A lawyer by profession, he was educated at Trinity College Cambridge. In the early 1860s, he was attracted to stamp collecting, this being strengthened by his friendship with Judge Frederick Adolphus Philbrick, who he met in 1863, and together they were amongst the earliest members of the Philatelic Society, London. In May 1869, he presented a paper to the Society and was identified simply as A Member in the report of the meeting in The Philatelist. He used the pseudonym A Parisian Collector when contributing to The Philatelist of 1868 and The Philatelical Journal and The Stamp Collector's Magazine of 1872. Although he was English, Westoby was living in Paris when he wrote articles under this pseudonym. (Identified by Adelaide Lucy Fenton on the inside fly-leaf of her copy of The Stamp Collector's Magazine, 1873, Volume 11.) He is known to have used the pseudonym A Lover of Rarities ahen writing to the editor of The Stamp Collector's Magazine (February 1869, Volume 6, Issue 2, p.29) under the title A Spanish Rarity about the Spain 5 reales blue error of colour. He discovered and purchased this error the previous year in the shop of Alfred Smith & Co. No other copy was known until after Westoby's death.

Editors would often simply refere to him under his initials W. A. S. W. when quoting his letters to them. In The Stamp Collector's Magazine of 1873 and 1874, Westoby used the pseudonym Quelqu'un, French for Someone. I am sure that many other contributions by him were published anonymously, an example attributed to him is Hints for mounting stamps and envelopes, published in The Stamp Collector's Magazine of March 1870.

He edited The Philatelic Record from December 1885 to December 1895, with a break of eighteen months. In addition to this, Westoby edited Alfred Smith & Co's. Monthly Circular from 1875 until his death.

William Amos Scarborough Westoby was one of the Fathers of Philately, whose names were appended to the Roll of Distinguished Philatelists as a remembrance of those philatelists in the past who would have certainly been eligible to sign the Roll had they still been alive. In 2013, the present writer was commissioned to write the biographies of the Fathers for a then forthcoming publication about the Roll and its signatories. This necessitated a great deal of research and the collection of many references, some of which were mere snippets which occasionally provided information not found elsewhere. I also followed up and collected all references I found in the periodical indexes I had available to me. All of the reference I accumulated relating to Westoby, large or small, useful or not, are listed hereunder. They form a bibliography relating to his life and when taken together with those of all of the other Fathers, a bibliography to their part of the book.

WESTON, Herbert Edgar 1874-1961
Died on the 21st November 1961.

In the November 1908 number of The Philatelic World (Volume 1, Issue 1, p.22) he placed an advertisement under the pseudonym Philatelist, at the following address: 386 Brixton Road which was one of his trading adresses.

Weston was born in Chichester, UK on the 28th October 1874. He married Edith Flora Benson in September 1904 in Kensington, London. He was buried in Twickenham Cemetary on the 27th November 1961. He was obviously related to Mrs Marion Weston of Sion Road, Twickenham, to whom he addressed many covers. (Information supplied by Jan Kosniowski.)

I have checked our records and can confirm that both Edith Flora Weston and Herbert Edgar Weston are buried in our Twickenham Cemetery, which stands on the corner of Hospital Bridge Road and Percy Road in Whitton. The grave is number K15 on Section P and there is a memorial to mark the grave. Edith Flora Weston died on 17th May 1951 aged 79 years, and Herbert Edgar Weston died on 21st November 1961 aged 87 years. (Liz Farrington, Cemetery Registrar.) All of this information supplied by Michael Peach.

He used the pseudonym Victor Marsh when trading in philatelic literature in the first two decades of the twentieth century and claimed to have the largest stock of philatelic literature for sale, in the world. He purchased Jean-Baptiste Moens' stock of literature in about 1907 upon the Belgian dealer's retirement. It weighed over two tons and had a list price of £570.

The following list of information and references relating to Weston was adapted from a list sent by Colin Breddy some years ago, whose name escapes me now. It includes errors such as his date of death.

Frank Walton's comment on seeing the cover in the Fathers of Philately book:

One thing that hit me was the cover shown on p.77 addressed to Castle. As the caption states, it was in Gilbert Wheat's collection. As you probably know, Gilbert was from Sheffield and well into his 90s he still had business interests there. Given our shared passion for the postal history of the city, he used to stay with me and we'd discuss the nuances of old covers etc. Once (in April 2006 according to a note I made) he showed me some pages – nothing to do with Sheffield for once – one of which was the cover in question. He had it written up as an (actually quite scarce) example of the first GB 2d stationery envelope, and hadn't noticed that the addressee was the former editor of the London Philatelist. When I pointed it out he immediately took it from the pile and insisted that I accept it as a gift! I still have it. I ghost-wrote the short piece in the London Philatelist that was published under Gilbert's name. (Extracted from an e-mail sent on the 12th April 2019)

WILDING, Dorothy 1893-1976
A leading studio photographer who is best known for her portrait of Queen Elizabeth II, used for the stamps of many nations.

Born:	10th January 1893, Longford, near Gloucester.
Father:	Richard Wilding, Commercial Traveller, 5 children by first marriage. Married 1885, Mary Martha Edwards. Dorothy had 3 elder sisters of this Marriage – May, Nora and Gladys Susan.
Age 4	Dorothy sent to childless aunt Fanny and uncle Thomas Hayter, Cheltenham.
1909	Bought first camera. Makeshift studio at home.

Moved to London: Years apprenticeship with retoucher Ernest Chandler, attached to portraitist H. Walter Barnett, Knightsbridge. Work for other photographers including Marion Neilson, New Bond Street and Court photographer Richard Speaight. Freelance retouching for London Stereoscopic Company, Hover Square.

1914	Age 21. Had saved £60 for lease of 67 George Street, off Portman Square. 1st assistant Bunny Wilson. Sir Gordon Selfridge early client. Nothing survives of this period.
1918	Moved to top-floor studio 264 Regent Street, opposite Jay's dress shop. Now changed from Natural light (George St.) to restful artificial light. Staff 7 "Camera Portraits" double-mounted on to colour-shaded cards: photo on white Japan tissue, then "tint" intermount visible through tissue, then on large (initially brown, then textured white) card. Art-Nouveau label. Dorothy Wilding's signature below image at left hand side in pencil or ink initially, then pre-printed on the tissue.
1918-on	Much demand as theatrical photographer.
Member:	Professional Photographers' Association.
1920	Married Walter Portham, leather merchant, aged 49. Marriage soon failed, divorced 1932.
1923	Moved to 22 Old Bond Street, several nearby leading photo studios. Decorated and lit in luxurious, modern distinctive style.
1925	Cecil Beaton found Dorothy Wilding very motherly, smart and amusing. She was a diminutive 5 foot 2 inches.
1932	Married Thomas "Rufus" Leighton Pearce [nicknamed for his red hair], interior designer, painter and architect. Designed numerous props and backdrops in modern style, distinctive of Wilding studio work.
1923-on	Exhibited more personal works, including nudes, at e.g. London Salon of Photography. Began commercial and advertising work, e.g. Hats (mid-1930s), Perfumes.
By 1937	Staff of 37 [apparently all female]. Worked only in black and white: but produced hand-painted photos.
1937	November - Studio at 15 East 56th Street, NY, near 5th Avenue.

1939 Moved to 675 Fifth Avenue.
1940 Leighton Pearce died in August.
1940 September - London studio destroyed in Blitz; almost all early negatives, prints, records lost.

WILLIAMS, Leon Norman 1914-1999

Born on the 25th March 1914. Died on the 9th April 1999. Brother of Maurice and Gerald Williams. With his brother, Maurice, they formed a team of prolific writers of both books and articles. He used the pseudonym B. O. Bachter when joining the Stadtpost Collectors Club in the 1990s.

At various times and for many years, he was joint editor, with his brother, of The Stamp Lover, the British Philatelist and the Cinderella Philatelist. In 1964, they resigned from their editorship of The Stamp Lover owing to a disagreement on a matter of policy: In the world of commercial journalism, it is usual for book reviewers to be permitted to keep the books they review as a form of stipend and the brothers carried this over into their philatelic reviewing activities in The Stamp Lover. The Junior (later National) Philatelic Society Council looked upon such books as donations to the Society and expected them to be returned to the Society library after review. Nevertheless, following their resignation, they were made Honorary Life Members of the Society for their long and valuable service.

His first library was formed jointly with his brother Maurice, who kept the library at his home. Shortly after the death of Maurice, Norman called to collect the library and found that it had been sold to Joseph Hackmey since Maurice's wife was unaware that it was a joint library. He subsequently formed a working library which was catalogued by Ian Crane in 1996 and contained 1,400 items. Following his death in 1999, Ian Crane helped to prepare the library for sale by Grosvenor Philatelic Auctions in February 2000.

Note: Owing to the large number of significant biographies available for Norman Williams, in 2009, I decided not to list any more minor biographies unless they contained first hand information or information I had not read before.

WILLIAMS, Margaret
See under her maiden name Margaret Ewen.

WILLIAMS, Maurice 1905-1976
Born on the 19th August 1905. Died on the 15th June 1976 at the age of 70. Brother of Leon Norman and Gerald Williams. Maurice was confined to a wheelchair for much of his life, a victim of polio in his youth. Accordingly, most of his philatelic activities were performed in collaboration with his brother under their joint authorship as L. N. & M. Williams. Accordingly, I have decided to put all of the information about them jointly, under the entry for his brother rather than duplicate the information here.

In 1971, he set up a Philatelic Information Service. For £1 per query, he undertook to provide answers utilising his 60 years experience and large reference library. He also undertook to expertise local stamps of all countries except Russia and the United States.

Note: Owing to the large number of significant biographies available for Maurice Williams, in 2008, I decided not to list any more minor biographies unless they contained first hand information or information I had not read before.

In 1934, at the early age of 35, he became President of the Royal Philatelic Society, London, serving in that position for six years. In 1949, he was elected President again, being the only person to serve in that position twice. In 1938, he succeeded Sir Edward Denny Bacon as Curator of the Royal Philatelic Collection, serving in that post until 1969 and receiving a Knighthood for his personal service to the monarch. In 1952, he published The Royal Philatelic Collection, which was at the time the most expensive and sumptuous philatelic book ever published.

WILSON, William Thomas 1847-1932

Died on the 17th December 1932. Brother of Alexander Henry Wilson. Father of Frank E. Wilson. Before stamp dealing became his sole occupation, he was a traveller in the metal goods trade. He began to collect stamps in 1860 at the age of thirteen. He became a great friend of Edward Loines Pemberton and remained so up to the latter's death in 1878. Given the description of his meeting and resulting friendship with Pemberton, it is highly likely that Wilson was An Old Collector who wrote a series of Reminiscences in Stanley Gibbons Monthly Journal of 1891/92.

He was elected a member of the [Royal] Philatelic Society, London at the meeting of 28th October 1882 having been proposed by Maitland Burnett and seconded by Dr. Charles W. Viner. Although he was not a dealer at the time of his election, he later became one and at the time of his death, he was the last remaining dealer member of the Society.

His favourite country was Mexico, a result of his travelling to America to purchase de Coppet's collection of that country. It was not until 1891 that he became a professional philatelist, on the retirement of his brother. He became a partner in Cheveley, Wilson & Company in 1891 but was ill-matched with T. W. Chevely and the partnership was dissolved the following year. Thereafter, he dealt in high-class British and British Colonial stamps under the name W. T. Wilson. His son joined the business as a partner in 1902. He advertised for philatelic literature from 292 Birchfield Road, Birmingham in Alfred Smith & Sons Monthly Circular. (31st December 1907, Whole number 396, p.86.) In 1931, with his increasing infirmity, his son took over the business and he retired.

WISEMAN, William Anthony [Tony] 1926-2012

William Anthony Wiseman died suddenly on Tuesday the 15th of May 2012 at his home in Twyford, Berkshire. Born on the 22nd of February 1926, Tony was a chemist by profession. Initially working for the wine trade, he went on to establish a company producing scientific instruments. In later life he entered local politics as an environmental campaigner and became the Chairman of Berkshire County Council.

However, Tony was first and foremost a philatelist, specialising in the Official or Departmental overprints of Great Britain and winning gold medals for his Inland Revenue and Government Parcels exhibits. He became the recognised expert on the Departmental Issues as he liked to call them. Tony was eager to share his knowledge, and the many articles he wrote for Gibbons Stamp Monthly and the two volumes entitled The De La Rue Years remain the definitive references.

Although Tony had not enjoyed good health for a number of years, his mind was active right up to the end and he was working on an Admiralty Official exhibit, for which he hoped to achieve another Gold medal, as well as researching the Battle of Navarino.

Tony was a Fellow of the Royal Philatelic Society London and although not fit enough to attend the London meetings in recent years, he enjoyed the local Thames Valley regional meetings, attending the last meeting in June 2011. I was privileged to get to know Tony: we both enjoyed looking through our collections and discussing items of interest and I attended his funeral service at Reading Crematorium on Thursday the 24th of May. (Adapted from an e-mail obituary and photograph circulated by Tony Stanford, 3rd June 2012.)

Born on the 28th May 1857. Died on the 20th October 1934. Husband of Catherine Dorothy Wolsieffer. Used the pseudonym Kennelm when publishing articles in the early 1890s.

Although he had been a part-time dealer for some years, he started his professional career working for the S. B. Bradt Company selling music and dealing in stamps. He helped found the Chicago Philatelic Society and the American Philatelic Association (now the American Philatelic Society). In 1892, he sold his library to Hiram Edmund Deats. He was a member of the Western Publishing Company which published The Western Philatelist (1887/88) and was said to be the inventor of the stock book with pockets, having patented a design in 1897. After trading on his own account, he sold his business to the Phiuladelphia Stamp Company in about February 1914 and joined it as manager.

WOODWARD, Ian
Born in London, UK, he emigrated to the United States with his family in 1960. After working in the document processing fields for both Univac and Xerox, he retired to Los Angeles, California. His interest in philately dated from the age of six as he was a third generation philatelist following both his father and grandfather. His British Commonwealth collection was started by his grandfather but his own specialty was Jamaican obliterations.

WORMS, Baron Percy George de 1873-1941

Born on the 3rd November 1873. Died on the 2nd April 1941. Son of Baron George de Worms and brother of Anthony Denis Maurice George de worms. His title was an Austrian hereditary title, first awarded to his grandfather, which he relinquished shortly after the First World War. He was not a stamp collector initially but helping his brother arrange his stamps led to him collecting himself. By the time he was eighteen, he had joined the Philatelic Society, London (later the Royal Philatelic Society London) and worked tirelessly for them up to his death. Two major publications stand to his credit: The Royal Philatelic Society, London, 1869-1919, and The Perkins Bacon Records, published twelve years after his death. A specialist in the stamps of Ceylon, he was invited to sign the Roll of Distinguished Philatelists in 1928.

WRIGHT, Hastings Elwin 1861-1897

Born on the 25th June 1861. Died on the 26th September 1897. His father was the Reverend John Wright, Rector of Falmouth and his mother Eliza Suzanna Wright (nee Elwin). He was born on the 25th June 1861 and had two sisters. His name is occasionally found incorrectly, as Hastings Edward Wright or Hastings Edwin Wright.

Hastings Elwin Wright was one of the Fathers of Philately, whose names were appended to the Roll of Distinguished Philatelists as a remembrance of those philatelists in the past who would have certainly been eligible to sign the Roll had they still been alive. In 2013, the present writer was commissioned to write the biographies of the Fathers for a then forthcoming publication about the Roll and its signatories. This necessitated a great deal of research and the collection of many references, some of which were mere snippets which occasionally provided information not found elsewhere. I also followed up and collected all references I found in the periodical indexes I had available to me. All of the reference I accumulated relating to Wright, large or small, useful or not, are listed hereunder. They form a bibliography relating to his life and when taken together with those of all of the other Fathers, a bibliography to their part of the book.

PHILATELIC PSEUDONYMS

BACKGROUND

As a bibliophile, delving into the vastness of philatelic literature, I found it very discouraging to come across so many writers, particularly in the very early years when stamp collecting was still looked upon as the preserve of schoolboys, hiding their identities behind a nom de plume or pseudonym. By this I mean false names or initials used when writing articles or letters in the philatelic press and occasionally even when compiling catalogues and writing books, to disguise, if not totally conceal, the identity of the writer. Over the years, the users of many pseudonyms have become known, either because of their admission or it being mentioned in the philatelic press, often in obituaries.

Accordingly, I began to compile a bibliography of pseudonyms and their users, as I came across them. Occasionally, I would include pseudonyms used for purposes other than when writing, such as by collectors when exhibiting or selling their collections. Initials have frequently been used by editors and other well-known philatelists to save them using their full names time and time again, on the basis that their initials would be easily recognisable to the readers. However, years after the periodical was published, initials can cause problems for bibliophiles, particularly when they belong to someone unexpected, rather than simply to the editor or members of the editorial board. I have tended to be very selective about the initials I included, restricting them to important examples I did not consider reasonably obvious.

With the appearance of Varro E. Tyler's wonderful book on forgers: Philatelic Forgers. Their Lives and Works(1), I began to include aliases.

Apart from forgers, other philatelic frauds also form an interesting group who used pseudonyms or, more-accurately, aliases. These were people, mainly exposed in the periodicals of the 1880s and 1890s, who preyed on the philatelic community. Generally, they have left a record of their passing only in their advertisements, often placed in the same magazines which subsequently revealed their histories. However, some were known to have published periodicals to further their schemes, such as Lewis Bishop who published four issues of The Philatelist from Denver Colorado(2), which was itself a scam as the subscribers received no further issues for their money. Others fell from grace after apparently providing some service to philately, a notable example being George P. Coffin who published Coffin's Directory of Philatelic Frauds(3) in 1887 and was sent to prison in 1888, for attempting to defraud a dealer(4). I have tried to limit the aliases included, to those who used the medium of the philatelic press to perpetrate their iniquities and whose names or aliases may thereby come to the attention of today's reader.

When I began to collect biographies of philatelists, I soon realised that many philatelists had deliberately changed their names during their philatelic lifetimes. For example, people of German descent living in both the UK and USA, often changed their names during the two World Wars in order to avoid the inevitable backlash against "enemy" nationals, and I considered these changes worthy of inclusion in my list of pseudonyms. The Austrian literature dealer, Fritz Billig operating in the United States under the name Billings only for the duration of the Second World War, is an example of this. The many changes simply caused by the lack of accents in English, such as using ue for ü in Mueller, are necessarily ignored.

As an aside, the most notable philatelist who changed his name due to the prevailing anti-German sentiment was King George V of Great Britain. In 1917, he changed the name of his family from Wettin to Windsor, the site of one of his main family homes. Naturally, this change had no philatelic consequences which concern us here.

A second category of philatelists who deliberately changed their names was women who married. Although there are numerous examples and some, such as Lynne S. Warm-Griffiths (1923-1990) who was born Marilyn Smith, married Harvey R. Warm to become Lynne S. Warm (divorced 1976) and subsequently married John Oliver Griffiths, possibly deserve inclusion, I have omitted them all on the basis that that most of them probably did not publish under their maiden names and their inclusion would lengthen this list substantially with no resultant benefit. In any case, once again, those that I have come across are included in the body of this work.

Occasionally, I have listed a pseudonym where I do not know who the user was. The reason for this is that I would dearly like to know the user's name and have made the entry in the hope that someone can fill in the missing details. Similarly, I would like to be informed of any other pseudonyms and their users that I have omitted.

After I had been compiling this list for some time I realised that, over the nearly 150 years of philatelic publishing, several persons may well have used obvious pseudonyms such as A Collector and so I began to add the details about when the pseudonym was used in a publication, or other information (even a reference, occasionally) to make the identification more certain. Where I have added information as to where a pseudonym was used, it merely indicates where I know it to have been used. It does not indicate that it was not used elsewhere or at another period. In addition, I often found the reasons behind some philatelists choice of pseudonym fascinating and so I began to include them also.

INTRODUCTION TO PSEUDONYMS

It has long been recognised that writers often publish using names other than their own. Indeed, so widespread did this practice become that the term nom de plume (literally name of feather, alluding to the time when writing was done with a sharpened quill) was coined in France and adopted verbatim into English nearly two hundred years ago. Some authors have taken this practice to the extreme, such as the well-known French writer Voltaire, itself a pseudonym for François Marie Arouet (1694-1778), who used 172 additional pseudonyms and the English writer Daniel Defoe (1660-1731) who used about 200, and whose real name was almost certainly Daniel Foe[(5)].

In former times and even in some countries today, adopting a false name was a necessity for those whose writings expressed opinions differing from those of the Establishment and which could therefore be considered seditious. In these less troubled philatelic times, pseudonyms are generally used by those writing columns for magazines in order to distance the information from its source. For example, market tips columns are almost invariably written by dealers whose use of a pseudonym avoids controversy. It also provides the magazine with continuity as column writers change but the column remains the same – see W. E. Fyndem as a recent example.

Unfortunately, as is so often the case, there have been those who have abused the privilege of writing anonymously and used the opportunity to publish personal comments and attacks on others. Ralph P. Spooner, the editor of The New York Stamp reported in 1892 that some contemporary editors had claimed that no noms de plume should be permitted since they could aim to injure an enemy or rival. It was his view however, that there was need for anonymity both by writers, who do not care to have their names in print, and papers who wish to avoid other editors approaching their writers[6].

The following year, Walter A. Withrow, writing in The Stamp, postulated that nearly half of the articles appearing in United States philatelic magazines were published under a nom de plume and pondered as to why this should be the case[7]. Just occasionally, a user of pseudonyms reveals the reasons behind his use of them. This was the case in 1908 when Benjamin Webster Warhurst wrote in a private letter to a philatelic colleague providing his reasoning. It was not until after his death in 1911 that the letter was made public[7a].

I was always under the impression that such inter-personal vilification, either pseudonymously or in the open, died out in philately with the end of the amateur and boy-publishers of the late 19th century. However, that it was a continuing problem was demonstrated by the eminent philatelic bibliophile, Ralph A. Kimble, writing on the matter in 1941 in his capacity as editor of The American Philatelist, who revealed that writing anonymously in order to attack others, was at that time being considered as a reason for expelling members from the American Philatelic Society[8]. This view was challenged by Eveleen Severn, the editor of Mekeel's Weekly Stamp News, who noted that in her experience, the use of pen names was not to disguise the identity of the writer when attacking others but generally for more-benign reasons. In addition, she recalled Kimble writing under a pen name in earlier days[9].

Another difficulty arising from the use of pseudonyms, was the reduced weight accorded to articles bearing them, since the standing of the author was not known. Pseudonymous articles suffered from other problems which were pointed out by Edward J. Nankivell the editor of Gibbons Stamp Weekly, when he announced in 1908 that in future all writers should be willing to put their names to articles they submitted to him for publication[10]. On the other hand, Al Burns, editor of the Weekly Philatelic Gossip noted in an editorial in 1932 that many of that magazine's writers who used pseudonyms were well-known authors outside philately and wrote anonymously in order separate their two writings. He them goes on to provide many examples of notable non-philatelic writers who used a pseudonym[10a].

Pseudonyms and initials certainly give those that come after them the problem of identifying the user. Although the owners' names may have been known to their peers, the passage of time has often caused their identity to be lost. Fortunately, the users of many pseudonyms have become known over the years and are sometimes revealed in biographies or obituary notices. Tension between writers has also resulted in the revelation of pseudonym users, such as occurred in a series of articles published in 1893 by Lieut. V. B. Justice who revealed the owners of a number of pseudonyms in a series of articles[11], until the writer was himself revealed to be Cleve Scott, a well-known author and publisher[12].

The best source of identities of pseudonym users is of course, contemporary revelations generally by disaffected rival editors. One such was Harry F. Kantner, editor of The Pennsylvania Philatelist. In December 1892, he published a revelation of a number of pseudonyms under the pseudonym Excelsior[13] probably Kantner himself. Less than a year later his paper included the editorial No nom de plume allowed, asserting that all articles would be above the signature of the writer[14]. Nevertheless, a month or three later I noticed an occasional pseudonym creeping back into the paper.

Just occasionally, we can gain an insight into the identity of a pseudonym user owing to the researches of some bibliophile. Such a case was provided by Victor Marsh, probably the greatest philatelic literature dealer in the world in the early decades of the twentieth Century, trading under this pseudonym was Herbert Edgar Weston. After more than three decades of searching, Weston managed to identify the publisher of the first Spanish catalogue of 1864[(15)], previously known only by his initials J. M. V. de C., as José Maria Vergés de Cardona.

PREVIOUS LISTS OF PSEUDONYMS

In 2002, Gini Horn, the Librarian of the American Philatelic Research Library, published a list of forty-three philatelic pseudonyms in the Library's magazine the Philatelic Literature Review[(16)]. In response, I sent her my own list numbering one hundred and sixty-seven examples, which was published later that same year[(17)]. Inevitably, this publicity brought forth further examples from correspondents like Wolfgang Maassen, who provided a number of German pseudonyms. In recent years (2020+), Roger Cichorz, who currently looks after the Roger G. Schnell Library of the Scandinavian Collectors Club which is housed in the Rocky Mountain Philatelic Library at Denver, CO, USA., has been researching the pseudonyms found in the Club's collection of auction catalogues. Having exhausted contributions from my list, he has managed to decipher a number of others and has kindly allowed me to add them to my list. However, most subsequent additions have simply come from my general reading of old philatelic papers.

Six years later, in 2008, my enlarged list, containing some 340 pseudonyms, was serialised in the Stamp Lover[(18)].

Having become involved with MonacoPhil 2013, I provided a simplified listing of some six hundred pseudonyms for inclusion in the Franco-English exhibition catalogue: Annexe 1 = Appendix 2: Pseudonymes = Pseudonyms. The list was reproduced in the German-language version of the following year[(19)].

A similar thing happened with Stockholmia 2019, celebrating the 150th Anniversary of the Royal Philatelic Society London. For the brochure issued at their publicity reception of 31st August 2018 at the MALMEX 2018 Exhibition, the organisers of Stockholmia requested a copy of my complete chapter on pseudonyms to make the brochure collectable[(20)]. By that time, the list contained 684 pseudonyms.

Since it is likely be many years before this list is published once again, I intend to keep it current as an integral part on my Bibliography of Biographies of Philatelists and Dealers so that an up to date version will be permanently available to students.

For the record, on the 7th November 2021, the list contained 949 pseudonyms.

INITIALS

Pseudonyms were generally used by authors to conceal their identities. In the early years of philatelic periodicals, many editors disguised the names of their contributors using initials. The logic behind this was to disguise their contributors from the editors of competing philatelic periodicals and retain their articles for their own publication. After 150 years or so, the identity of many users of initials are unknown to the present generation of researchers. Accordingly, I have included initials within the list of pseudonyms.

LIST OF PSEUDONYMS

INTRODUCTION

What follows is a list of the philatelic pseudonyms, aliases and initials I have identified and which philatelists may encounter during their researches in the hobby's literature and auction catalogues. Occasionally, I have included pseudonyms that are highly unlikely to be encountered in the literature of philately, purely for their general interest. Usually, these relate to famous personalities who were also stamp collectors such as Yul Brynner and Bela Lugosi. I have included the bare minimum of information in the following entries since fuller details are given in the body of this work. As a general rule, I have ignored nicknames which one often finds in obituaries but nowhere else. I have made an exception where a nickname is used by the owner in print. Then I have assumed it to be equivalent to a pseudonym.

Pseudonyms take many forms, from simple initials (e.g. A. C. y T.), those having the appearance of real names (e.g. A. Bernard), through descriptive expressions (e.g. A Gentleman of France), to phrases or sayings (e.g. Damus Petimusque Vicissim), with a myriad of styles in between. Unlike conventional names, it is obviously difficult to put such a mixture into a typical alphabetical order. Accordingly, I have used a strict letter by letter, word by word alphabetical order to simplify finding the pseudonyms. Punctuation within the pseudonym is ignored for the purpose of alphabetisation.

On numerous occasions, I have seen pseudonyms quoted incorrectly or, more-commonly, partially, - generally missing out the initial article of the name e.g. A, An, De, The, etc., or the title e.g. Capt., Lieut., Dr., Mr. or Miss. Accordingly, this must be taken into account when trying to find a pseudonym and electronic searches of a digital version of this document are recommended although a few cross-references are included for common errors.

I found it very frustrating when magazines referred to contributors by their initials. Amongst these I do not include the initials of the publisher, editor or other "officers" of the magazine where the owners are obvious. Generally, the initials were not used deliberately by their owners but rather by the editor of the magazine. This was especially common in early periodicals in order to hide the identity of their contributors so that they could not be "stolen" by competitor's magazines. Also, in those early days of stamp collecting, accumulations of names and addresses of stamp collectors could be sold – especially to dealers. Nowadays, the initials are simply a nuisance to researchers. Accordingly, where I have discovered the owners of early initials I have included them in this list as if they were pseudonyms.

In 2018, I was given access to The F.I.P. Awards List 1980-1992, compiled by Robert P. Odenweller. It contained some 132 pseudonyms under which various philatelists had exhibited their collections. Since the inclusion of pseudonyms was incidental to the main purpose of the list, it was not always clear in which exhibitions and for which exhibits they were used. I have done my best to interpret the information, which can be clarified if required by reference to the exhibition catalogues.

The dates given after the pseudonym users' names are their years of birth and death respectively, where these are known. I have also added a brief note regarding where the pseudonym was used, insofar as I am aware of it.

"A" used by E. T. Grainger (-1957)
Used as the "A" collection of British Colonial stamps sold by Stanley Gibbons some years prior to Grainger's death.

A. Bernard used by Burkhard Bernhard Assmus (1855/56-)
Used when forging the unissued VR official 1d. black of Great Britain in the early 1890s. Derived from the initial of his family name and the anglicised version of his Christian name.

A. Burmeister used by A. B. Quigley ()
Used as an alias when carrying out frauds in America in the 1880s and early 1890s.

A. C. y T. used by Dr Antonio Comas y Torregrosa (1868-1918)
Used when he wrote the first philatelic handbook in Spain in 1893, entitled Filatelia.

A. C. Kline used by John William Kline (1824-1892)
Used when advertising a a stamp dealer and when publishing America's first stamp catalogue; The Stamp Collector's Manual, Philadelphia, PA, USA, in 1862 and the subsequent editions up to 1868. The reason behind the pseudonym may well have been the fact that the first edition of the catalogue was pirated almost entirely from Mount Brown's first edition of the same year. Recent research indicates that the actual publisher was his wife Adelia C. Kline (1825-1899).

A. C. Roe used by Albert C. Roessler (1883-1952)
Used as the address on many of his philatelically-inspired covers to disguise their origin

A. Cameron & Co. used by G. Campbell ()
Used as a trading name when he was committing frauds in the early days of philately.

A. Churchill used by Arthur Churchill Emerson (1845/46-)
Used as a trading name when he was a stamp dealer in London, UK in the 1880s and 1890s. Derived from his given names.

A Collector used by W. H. Wright ()
Used when publishing A Catalogue of British, Colonial and Foreign Postage Stamps., Gloucester, UK, 1863. The use of a pseudonym would appear to have been a wise, if unsuccessful, precaution since the work was plagiarised from the third edition of Mount Brown's catalogue.

A. Erdmann used by Arthur Ernst Friedrich Glasewald (1861-1926)
Used when publishing Philatelistisches Kommersbuch zum 15. Stiftungsfest des Deutschen Philat.-Verbandes., Gössnitz, Austria, 1905.

A. F. used by Adelaide Lucy Fenton (1825-1897)
Used for correspondence in The Stamp Collector's Magazine of the 1860s.

A. F. Ewfacts used by Ralph Wolfe Ashcroft (1874-)
Used when publishing articles. Derived from the phrase A few facts.

A. Franz used by Franz Andreas Anton Kalckhoff (1860-1955)
Used when publishing articles. Derived by reversing his first and second names.

A Gentleman from Massachusetts used by J. C. Fuller ()
Used in The American Stamp Mercury in July 1870 when describing his finds of the Mobile and Livingston, Confederate locals.

A Gentleman of France used by Thomas George Wayman (1882-)
Used when publishing articles in England in the 1800s.

A. Gerdt used by Andreas Gerhauser (1856-1937)
Used when writing articles in Germany.

A. L. Bert used by Albert Newman (1880/81-1970)
Used when publishing articles. Derived from his first name.

A London Collector user not known
Published an article with W. A. S. Westoby in The Stamp Collector's Magazine in 1874.

A Lover of Rarities used by William Amos Scarborough Westoby (1815-1899)
Used when writing to the editor of The Stamp Collector's Magazine (February 1869, Volume 6, Issue 2, p.29) under the title A Spanish Rarity about the Spain 5 reales blue error of colour. He discovered and purchased this error the previous year in the shop of Alfred Smith & Co. No other copy was known until after Westoby's death.

A. M. Andrews Jr. used by J. T. McFarland ()
Used in USA in the late 1880s and early 1890s, when dealing in forged stamps.

A Member used by William Amos Scarborough Westoby (1815-1899)
Used in The Philatelist of 1869 when reporting a paper he presented to the Philatelic Society, London.

A. Niven used by Edgar Lewy (1926-1991)
Used when writing articles.

A. P. used by Alexander Perris ()
Used in 1862 when advertising in The Monthly Advertiser, the first periodical in the world devoted to philately.

A. P. used by Edward Tresoldi Granger ()
Used when he sold his collections through Robson Lowe from 1944 to 1945 by both auction and private treaty.

A. Palette used by William A. Warner (-1892)
Used when writing articles for the American press in the late 1880s. It was based on his being an artist.

A Parisian Collector used by William Amos Scarborough Westoby (1815-1899)
Used when contributing to The Philatelist, The Philatelical Journal and The Stamp Collector's Magazine of the 1860s and 1870s. Although he was English, Westoby was living in Paris when he wrote the articles under this pseudonym.

A Philatelist used by George Overy Taylor (1845-1904)

Used when writing On varieties and why they should be collected in The Stamp Collectors' Magazine of 1867 (Volume 5).

A Post Card Collector used by H. A. de Joannis ()
Used when writing articles on post cards in The Philatelic Record in 1879.

A Post Card Collector used by G. Campbell ()
Used when writing articles on post cards in The Philatelic Record in 1887. This may well have been a continuation of the series begun by H. A. de Joannis.

A. Specialist used by L. N. Christea ()
Used when writing an article on the centenary of the Moldavian Bulls stamps in The Stamp Lover in 1957.

A Specialist used by Walter T. Wilson ()
Used when writing a column for The Stamp Collectors' Fortnightly

A Stamp Collector used by Frederick William Booty (1841-1924)
Used for the first two editions of his stamp catalogue; Aids to Stamp Collectors., Brighton, UK, 1862.

A Stamp Collector used by Edward Loines Pemberton (1844-1878)
Used when writing a letter to The Philatelist of April 1867.

A Timbrophilist used by John Kerr Tiffany (1842-1897)
Used when writing a letter to The Missouri Republican on the 5th February 1870, regarding the St. Louis Postmaster's stamps.

A. v. D. Lubota used by Otto Carl Alfred Moschkau (1848-1912)
Used when writing articles for his own magazine, A. Moschkau's Magazin für Markensammler in the 1870s.

A. West used by Harold Treherne (1886/87-)
Used when dealing in forgeries in Brighton, UK, in the early years of the 20th Century.

A Western Gentleman used by A. Murl Kimmel (1899-1976)
Used when his library was sold by Leonard Hartmann in 1979.

A Whittier Longfellow used by George Allen Higlett (1860-1940)
Used when writing his leaflet, The Romance of a Common Stamp. The leaflet was humorous blank verse, written in the style of the poet Henry Wadsworth Longfellow and the pseudonym was derived both from A wittier Longfellow and a reference to John Greenleaf Whittier, an American Quaker poet.

Abaco used by Hugh W. Wood ()
Used when he sold his collection of Bahamas through Grosvenor in 2010.

ABC used by A. B. Cook ()
Used when his stamp collection was sold by Robson Lowe in 1947.

Adard de Laplante used by Edgar Edard de Laplante (1820-1881)
Adopted in order to move his name to the top of the notices of stamp dealers in L'Annuaire du Commerce in the early days of philately.

Adolf Aaronsohn used by Adolph L'Arronge (1838-1908)
Use not known.

Adrian Opkins used by Ian Thornicroft Hamilton (1908-1990)
Used when writing articles. It was a pun on the name of an old friend Adrian Hopkins who used the pseudonym Hadrian Opkins.

Afrikander used by H. Mallet Veale (-1944)
Used when he wrote articles in many journals in the 1930s.

Aguilas used by R. Paliafito ()

W. A. S. W used by William Amos Scarborough Westoby (1815-1899)
Used when writing letters to the editor of magazines such as The Philatelical Journal in February 1872.

W. D. A. used by William Dudley Atlee ()
Used when writing in early periodicals such as The Philatelist in 1867.

W. E. Fyndem used by James Arthur Chester Sumner (-1957)
He was the first person to use this pseudonym when writing a market tipster column in the British philatelic magazine Stamp Collecting. First used in 1927, it served as the pseudonym of a number of writers over many years. Derived from the phrase We find them.

W. E. Fyndem used by L. A. Noble ()
Used when writing a market tipster column in the British philatelic magazine Stamp Collecting.

W. E. Fyndem used by Michael Waloff (-1971)
Used when writing a market tipster column in the British philatelic magazine Stamp Collecting for twenty-one years, from 1950 to 1970. The pseudonym of the column writer was subsequently changed to Watchman, q.v.

W. E. Fyndem used by Allan Grant (1942-)
Used when writing a market tipster column in the British philatelic magazine Stamp Collecting.

W. H. used by Henry Josiah Whymper (1845-1893)

W. H. H. used by William Hughes-Hughes (1817-1902)
Used in reports about the paper he presented to the Philatelic Society, London in 1869, in both The Philatelist and The Stamp Collectors' Magazine.

W. H. H. Thought to be a typographical error for D. H. H. (q.v.)
Used when writing a letter to The Philatelist of November 1876.

W. H. H. Jun. used by William Hughes-Hughes Junior ()
In March 1863 (pp.29-30) a letter appeared in The Stamp Collector's Magazine above the signature W. H. H. Jun. It would be appealing to ascribe these initials to William Hughes-Hughes, a notable collector of this early period, except that having adopted the surname Hughes himself he would never have been described as Junior. It is known that he had six sons but the names are not known to me. However, it is quite possible that he gave one the name William which would account for the appellation Junior.

W. H. Scott used by William Bennett Hale (1871-1930)
Used when carrying out his fraudulent activities in America from the early 1900s until the 1920s.

W. Howard used by W. Houtzamer ()

Used when writing the Canadian Notes column for The Texan Philatelist in 1885.

Wanderer used by Thomas J. Mitchell ()
Used when writing articles in The Stamp Collector's Figaro in 1887 and a column entitled "Wanderer's Corner" in The United States Philatelist in 1888.

Warden used by C. S. Ward ()
Used in The Stamp Collector's Magazine of the 1870s. It was derived as a pun on his name, a warden being a guardian.

Wat Whitman used by George Allen Higlett (1860-1940)
Used when publishing his Sixth leaflet, The Song of Philately. Written in verse in the style of the American poet, Walter Whitman, the pseudonym appears to pose the question What? Whitman

Watchman used by Stephen Walter Braham ()
Used when providing tips on the stamp market in Stamp Collecting.

Watchman used by Kenneth Robert Lake (1931-2005)
Used when providing tips on the stamp market in Stamp Collecting. Following the death of Michael Waloff, Ken Lake declined to use the pseudonym W. E. Fyndem and became the first Watchman. He was forced to quit the column when he attacked an advertiser for speculating in GB gutter pairs and the company threatened to withdraw its advertising.

Watchman used by James William Negus (1927-2008)
Used when providing tips on the stamp market in Stamp Collecting and Stamp News from January to August 1984. This was a regular column which ran for a great many years and will have involved other authors using the same pseudonym.

Well-Known American Collector used by Arthur Linz (1895-1961)
Used when he sold his collection of Finland through Carl E. Pelander in their sale of the 21st-22nd May 1943.

Wenzel Said to have been used by Julio Ribeiro (1867-1897)
Used the when writing several columns in his paper, the Indian Philatelist, during 1894 and 1895 to make it appear that he had more contributors than just himself.

White used by William R. Weiss Jr. ()
Used when he sold his collection of Zeppelin stamps, covers & vignettes through Weiss Auctions in 1985. It is derived from his name Weiss, being German for White.

White Carib used by Peter Jaffe (1914-2005)
Used when he exhibited "Saint Vincent 1789-1897" and "Grenada: 1771-1936" at international exhibitions from 1980 to 1992.

Wilhelm Peter Kleine used by Wilhelm Friedrich Heinrich Kleine (1901-)
Used as an alias when dealing in forged stamps.

Used when writing articles.

Wm. Sipps Jr. used by Otto Scheible ()
Used when writing in the 1890s in America.

WOBO used by Wolfgang Boden ()
Its use is not known. It was derived from combining the first two letters of his names.

WOMA used by Wolfgang Maassen (1949-)
Used when writing articles. It was derived from combining the first two letters of his names.

XXXX

See M. X. and Mr. X.

X. A. P. used by John Peace ()
Used when publishing books in the 1840s. The books were of postal but not philatelic significance.

X. Libris used by Harry Hayes (1925-2011)
Used in Stamp Collecting in the 1960s when writing an article extolling the virtues of collecting philatelic literature. It was derived from the statement of ownership on a library bookplate – Ex Libris. At the time, he was the largest philatelic literature dealer in the UK.

Xeno used by Kenneth Robert Lake (1931-2005)
Used when writing the trade news feature in The Philatelic Trader after it was acquired by Stamp Collecting Limited in 1970. It was derived from the Greek word meaning stranger or foreigner because he was not a stamp dealer at the time and so was an outsider.

XX used by Mariano Pardo de Figueroa (1828-1918)
Used when signing some of his letters. Naturally the recipients knew who the writer was.

YYYY

Y. Souren used by Souren Avansov-Yohannessiantz (1892-)
Used when anglicising his name after emigrating to USA.

Yanni Kumeno used by Jean Coumenos (1880-)
Used when he removed from Athens to Alexandria, Egypt following his being fined for fraudulent trading in 1898. It was derived from an Egyptianisation of his name.

APPENDIX 2 TO APPENDIX 11

INTRODUCTION

The lists of biographies found in the first four appendices were produced by the brothers James and Ron Negus to give themselves access to the bibliographic material they had either come across in the philatelic literature or had collected as tear sheets. Since all of this material, the three lists as well as the tear sheets, had been donated to me by the two brothers, they are either free of copyright (Appendix 2) or the copyright has devolved to me (Appendices 3 to 5).

All of the persons included on these lists have been noted in the present work and referenced to the appropriate list as Negus (1), Negus (2) or Negus (3). However, now that the present work is finding greater use, I am getting an increasing number of enquiries about these three references and their contents and I feel obliged to make them freely available, rather than have users making enquiries of myself. Accordingly, I have included the lists in the present work as Appendices 1, 2, 3 and 4 respectively.

Since the first two lists were compiled by Jim and the final one by Ron, they are not in the same format as each other, never mind the rest of the document. (Even though I was responsible for digitising the contents of Appendix 2, I maintained the same format with which Jim Negus had begun the project.) The lists which were produced using Microsoft Word® are included exactly as produced, without any changes on my part. The third list was produced in the form of a database. Since I never use databases I am totally incompetent with them and so had to copy the data into Word® to get it into this document. Naturally, it needed to be re-set, but I made the minimum possible changes in order to make it easily usable.

In 2013, another of Ron's bibliographic compilations turned up. Although I have listed all of the references individually with no reference to Ron's work, I have included his bibliography as Appendix 5, just for the record.

As other lists turned up that were either donated to me in the knowledge/permission that I would incorporate them into this work, or were well out of copyringht, they have been added as Appendices to make them available to other philatelists.

CONTEMPORARY BIOGRAPHIES & OBITUARIES CUMULATED FROM STAMP LOVER'S "BRITISH PRESS CHECKLIST"

by

James Negus

The British Press Checklist indexed reference articles in British general philatelic magazines. It was published in The Stamp Lover as 38 instalments, appearing in that magazine between April 1985 and May 2000. The following list provides the key to abbreviations for the magazines included in the index.

Abbreviation	Magazine
BPB	British Philatelic Bulletin *
GISN	Gibbons' International Stamp News
GSM	Gibbons Stamp Monthly *
ISEN	International Stamp & Exhibition News
LP	London Philatelist, The *
TP	Philatelist & PJGB
SL	Stamp Lover *
SM	Stamp Magazine *
SMail	Stamp Mail
SN	Stamp News
SW	Stamp World
S	Stamps
SFS	Stamps & Foreign Stamps

Since this is not my document, I have not carried out any editing nor are the abbreviations used included in my list of abbreviations. (BJB)

FOREWORD

James William Negus (1927-2008) started work on this bibliography in the late 1980s or early 1990s. By the time I found out of its existence, he had compiled it, in the three sections: Philatelists, Postal History Figures and Stamp Designers, as a manuscript and started to enter it onto a computer database. Only the Philatelists section was in alphabetical order, the other sections being compiled by hand. In about 1998, he sent me a printed sample showing its final appearance as he envisaged it. The printout was taken directly from the database of philatelists and covered the letters A to C only.

Jim retired in 2000 and all of the documents and computer files relating to this work were passed to his brother Ronald Negus (1933-2008). Although Ron wanted to complete the document, the effort required, which would have necessitated several months of full-time work, was greater than the time he had available. Ron and I agreed that I would have the document typed up and he would transfer it to Jim's original database and so he sent me the original manuscript documents. However, owing to my own commitments, the time required for typing and checking ran into years and Ron died suddenly in 2008. Rather than see all of the work go to waste, I scanned the printed document covering the letters A to C using OCR software and loaded everything into a Word® file. I then edited the whole document into Jim's original format, which you see here.

A certain amount of simplification was deemed necessary. For example, I omitted all of the codes giving the original source of each reference, which I considered unnecessary in a project that was not ongoing, and very time consuming both to type and check; I also combined his three lists into a single alphabetical sequence. Otherwise, the document is essentially as Jim foresaw it.

I had Jim's Introduction re-typed and edited it only for appearance. In this way, you can see exactly what he intended. Indeed, it is evident that this was to be just the start of what he envisaged as a massive undertaking, gathering biographical data from a wide range of sources. This document has been compiled and edited as a tribute to the pioneering work done by both Jim and Ron, in collecting biographical data for the benefit of future researchers.

INTRODUCTION

British general (non-specialist) magazines published since the autumn of 1984 have been indexed in the Stamp Lover British Press Checklist (BPC). That regular serial has always paid particular attention to references to people and its classification system is noted at the end of this Introduction.

A new compilation is therefore needed for the innumerable biographies/obituaries published prior to 1984 and this is proceeding alphabetically by means of a computer database.

For two reasons, I have decided not to merge in with it the post-1984 BPC entries. The first is to avoid excessive length and duplicated effort. But chiefly because this new index, relying much on the work of others, needs further refinement and more searching. In the main, I continue the volume-and-page method of citation used from the inception of the Stamp Lover Index to Philatelic Literature, but occasionally this is varied.

I have also decided to confine the present work to Philatelists, with the intention of making separate databases for Postal History Figures and for Stamp Designers. [I have never seen the point of categorising lists of peoples' names and combined them all in a single list. BJB] Under the general designation Philatelists are included dealers and auctioneers, as well as stamp forgers.

The section below on "Magazine sources extracted" shows in detail where the information for the database has come from: contributions to filling the gaps are most welcome.

CONSTRUCTION OF THE NEW INDEX

Origin

A start was made by cumulating entries from the Stamp Lover Index to Philatelic Literature. This comprised lists published between 1950 and 1984 and with references for the period 1950-76; they were extended to the end of 1979 from unpublished lists of which I have copies. The Stamp Lover index is described in my book Philatelic Literature (Bendon, 1991) at pp.147-149. See also Appendix D (pp.259-269) of that book for a table of published instalments and the magazines which the index covered. That is also the key to the abbreviations used here for the magazine titles. Some new ones have had to be introduced where Stamp Lover had none and these are mentioned under the magazines concerned.

Development

Available indexes and tear sheets were then used to supplement this basic list.

Assignment of Biography, Obituary and Reference to each item.

These are the three classifications used. Biography is intended not just for a full length biography, but more as meaning "biographical data" of any sort, however brief. Found from the indexes and brought together, these stray pieces of information can be the raw material for a rounded portrait. The only exception to indexing brief mentions has been the interminable lists of medal winners at exhibitions. Obituary, likewise, comprises both formal obituaries and brief notices of a death. If a magazine index treats of the matter at all, it is often clearly indicated. A residue of references remain, where an index cites just a name and does not say in what connection. Until the original magazines are examined, an entry Reference is recorded with the intention of assigning Biography or Obituary later.

One point worth mentioning is that the long-running Stamp Lover index was the work of six successive indexers. The overall style remained commendably consistent, but deciding what item justifies inclusion and what can be ignored as of little permanent value is a subjective judgement. This becomes clear with how each regarded biographical entries: some (notably myself) favoured them more than the other compilers. Stamp Lover, furthermore, was habitually short of space and complaints from subscribers about pages devoted to the Index to Literature being a "waste" were not unknown. The pressure on the indexers for the first 20 years was always to economise wherever possible on the overall length without sacrificing quality. This led, for example, to such practical decisions as citing only one obituary of a prominent deceased, rather than give multiple references. But again, writing philatelic history sometimes relies on finding out what difference people said about the departed in different magazines. This can even reveal such things as varying dates of death!

Style Points

Many names, entered with initials for forenames, have been completed once the meaning of the initials has been discovered. This is a safeguard against confusing people with common names. The designation of female status, knighthoods, military ranks, doctorates, etc., is added in brackets after names, to preserve alphabetical order during computer sorting. [Not using a database, I put these items in order and manually adjusted any anomalies which occurred. BJB] The only annotations of this sort ignored are "senior", "junior" and dynastic numbers, as are found with American names. Discovery of dates of birth and death is ongoing and these are entered as found. (As source books are sometimes at odds, they cannot be considered wholly reliable without further research). The alphabetical order of names follows the rules set out in my Philatelic Literature pp.22-23.

Magazine sources extracted

The heading "Cross Refs" summarises the coverage of each magazine as follows:-
[Negus was very careful to include the source of every reference. However, I did not believe that their inclusion added anything material beyond what can be gleaned from the following list and omitted this data in its entirety. BJB]

SL The inclusive list numbers of the Stamp Lover Index to Philatelic Literature during which the magazine was indexed. That serial gave coverage for 1950-79.

BPC Similar inclusive list numbers for British Press Checklist published in Stamp Lover. This serial gives coverage from autumn 1984 to date.

Alfred Smith & Son's Monthly Circular (ASMC)

Cumulative index for 1875-1920, by B. T. K. Smith. London: Philatelic Literature Society, 1915.

- A superb example of the art. Entries from individual names, which distinguish obituaries. References give years and page or, for unpaginated 1875-76, month, year and column. New abbreviation ASMC for journal predating Stamp Lover index. The many entries of individuals' published work "noticed" or discoveries "referred to" are here omitted, as are what appear to be author entries in a predominantly subject index.
- The journal was originally titled Alfred Smith & Co's Monthly Circular. The words & Son's date from January 1894.
- B. T. K. Smith has a useful article An Index of Philatelic Biography in ASMC numbers 350 (February 1904) p.9 and 351 (March 1904) pp.17-18. It is not copied here pending further research, since references are solely to year date without page number and the current compilation already includes Smith's many entries from LP and PJGB. His Index helpfully signals where portraits are present. Brian Birch wrote a bibliographic note in September 1982 which analysed Smith's sources for his Index.

American Philatelist, The (AP)

The cumulative indexes for Volumes 1-51 and 52-56, covering 1887-1943, are not held. These are superseded by Charles J. Peterson's index to Volumes 1-100 (1887-1986)., State College: American Philatelic Society, 1990, but my copy is solely the excellent 261-column "Geographical Index" for countries only and so not for such general subjects as biography.

- In 1990 Charles Peterson gave me two printouts: (a) "Checklist of Issues", page table for the 100 years [37pp] and (b) "Part III: Author Index" [164pp]. Possibly APS never published these sections and there was a "Part II" dealing with general (non-geographical) subjects?
- Available Volume Indexes extracted here: Volumes 68-71 (October 1954-September 1958) and Volumes 84-88 (January 1970-December 1974). All entries from "American Philatelic Society" – Necrology" copied, also biographical mentions in "General Titles".

London Philatelist, The (LP)

Cumulative index to Volumes 1-77 (1892-1968), by Arnold M. Strange. London: Royal Philatelic Society, 1969.

- Entries from "Reminiscences" (p.17) and "Obituaries" (Part IV).

Available volume indexes extracted: Volumes 78-88 (1969-79) and Volumes 92-3 (1983-84). Runs of the journal held are Volume 69, number 807 (February 1960) to Volume 88, number 1033/4 (Jan/Feb 1979) and Volume 92, number 1081/2 (Jan/Feb 1983) to date.

- In March 1975 The London Philatelist began notifying deaths of Fellows and Members, most of whom received no full-scale obituaries. Where dates are given these have been noted for an alphabetical reference list, but the relevant names are not entered here, since they give no further information. Disregarded entirely are lists of members and Officers, also elections to Fellowship: these are covered already as an annual supplement to the magazine.

Philatelic Magazine (PM)

No cumulative index as such is known for this major title which, with the precursors it incorporated, spanned 1911 to 1984. The editor's – Albert H. Harris's – extensive contributions to philatelic bibliography can readily be seen as making amends.

Available volume indexes extracted here are: Volumes 15-18 (13 Jan 1925 – 25 Dec 1926); Volumes 64-66 (1956-58); Volumes 70-74 (1962-66); Volumes 75-83 (6 Jan 1967 – Sept 1975) and Volume 88 (Oct 1979 – Sept 1980).

- Entries from "Deaths", "Deceased" and "Obituary" copied as Obituary. Further headings appear as "Personal", "Personalities", "Miscellaneous" or individual names at different times: those identifiable as biographical are copied as Biography. The residue (some of which are probably differently classified obituaries) are listed as Reference.

Philatelist, The (TP)

For convenience, The Philatelist is the generic title for Robson Lowe's house magazine that had the following names: The Raconteur (Volume 1, 1934-35); The Raconteur and Philatelist (Volume 2, 1935-36); The Philatelist and Raconteur (Volume 3, 1936-37); The Philatelist (Volumes 4-16, 1937-38/1949-50); The Philatelist and Postal Historian (Volumes 17-31, 1950-51/1964-65) and The Philatelist (Volumes 32-47, 1965-66/1980). From 1981 it combined with The Philatelic Journal of Great Britain as The Philatelist & PJGB: see below.

Cumulative index to Volumes 1-40 (1934-74), by James Negus. London: Robson Lowe, ©1975, pub. 1976.

Philatelist & The Philatelic Journal of Great Britain, The (TP*)

An undated cumulated index to The Philatelist Volumes 41-47 (1974-80) and The Philatelist & PJGB Volumes 1-10 (1981-90) was published by Christie's Robson Lowe in 1992. No author is credited: its unedited state and the many typing errors in copying suggest it was a handwritten draft found among the papers of the late editor, Peter Collins.

- The section "Part 3 – People" does not differentiate biographies or obituaries, some entries are simply the names of authors of articles. Without further research I have preferred to disregard it entirely, even though TP was always a valuable source for obituaries.

Volume numbering for The Philatelist & PJGB begins again at Volume 1; Volumes 1-4 (1981-84) are therefore shown as TP* to distinguish from references to the old series (1934-38). Available volumes indexes extracted: Volume 3 (1983) and Volume 4 (1984).

- Entries from "Last Post" as Obituary and individual names as Biography.
- Uncut run of TP* held: Nov/Dec 1983 (Volume 3, p.241) to date.

Stamp Collecting (SC)

No cumulative index is known to the outstanding magazine published weekly from 1913 to 1984. Its coverage was made accessible by timely volume indexes each quarter.

Available volume indexes extracted: Entries are from indexes between Volume 72 and 126, covering 26 March 1949 to 19 August 1976, except for Volumes 87, 92, 93, 95 and 106 which are lacking. (The indexes for Volumes 76-85 however give page numbers only for obituaries, with names). Further volume indexes extracted are for volumes 142 to 149, covering 2 July 1981 to 14 June 1984. The final Volume 149 (29 March – 14 June 1984) was still in progress at the unexpected closure: an unpublished index was available from George Barker at the RPSL in 1988.

Cumulative index to Volumes 1-40 (1908-48), by R. King-Farlow [London: H.F. Johnson, 1949] and to volumes 41-50 (1948-58), by L.H. Harris [London: H.F. Johnson, 1959]. This supplement published as pull-outs from Volume 51, number 9/10 and 11/12, referenced here as "SL(s)".

- Entries extracted from "Part 1, Miscellaneous and General – Biography, Reminiscences and Personalities" (as Biography) and "Part 3, Obituaries" (as Obituary).

Volume indexes extracted: Volumes 51-76 (1958-84). The volumes indexes have carrying styles. Originally, a Miscellaneous section included both biographies and obituaries and there may be a sub-heading for obituaries. Biographies occur under "Personalities" or "Junior Philatelic Society" or individual names. With Volume 56, a single subject sequence superseded "Miscellaneous", but individual names are distinguished for "biog" or "obit" reference. "Miscellaneous" reappeared with Volume 70, including individual names as entries. Annual indexing of this magazine has lapsed.

Stamp Monthly [Gibbons] (SMG)

On ceasing to be a house magazine Gibbons Stamp Monthly was renamed in June 1970 as Stamp Monthly, beginning a Volume 1 with continuous pagination. This changed to discontinuous with Volume 7 and continues thus to date. From Volume 8, June 1977, the original titled was restored. All volume indexes are nevertheless headed Stamp Monthly or, from Volume 12, June 1981, as Stamp Monthly & British Stamps The British Stamps section is included as a separate index, but it has no biographical entries. No cumulative index exists.

Available volume indexes extracted: Volume 1-14 (June 1970 – May 1984), i.e. to the start of BPC. Entries copied from "Obituary", individual names in "Stanley Gibbons Ltd." or elsewhere copied as Biography. Latest volume index known is for Volume 19 (Jun 1988 – May 1989).

Note – in using the companion BPC listings, a magazine titled Stamps was also published in the UK 1980-83, undergoing changes of name subsequently; it was Stamps and Foreign Stamps 1983-86; Stamps 1986-88; Stamps & Printed Matters 1988-89; and stamps 1989-92 (when publication ceased). BPC coverage published in Lists 1-23 (issues dated Nov 1984 – Apr 1992) used abbreviation S for all variants of title. However, during cumulation, SFS was introduced for Stamps and Foreign Stamps. Fortuitously, the American and British Stamps did not co-exist during the period covered by the Stamp Lover index. [Initially, when compiling his lists, Negus had used S-US for the Lindquist publication in order to distinguish between the two periodicals with the title Stamps. By the time the work was passed to me, he had changed the material in the database to SFS and S but still had mostly S-US in the manuscript. I left them all as found. BJB]

Classifications in BPC

If the companion British Press Checklist is referred to for post-1984 entries, these are the classifications used. The headings Biography and Obituary are in the Miscellaneous Section and cater for current people. As BPC has now been cumulated on a database, the treatment of personalities has been rationalised by reclassifying some entries into Philatelic History: Biography and Postal History: Biography in the Miscellaneous Section. A new combined heading Dealers & Auctioneers is confined to companies as a whole, not individuals.

INDEX

TO TEAR SHEETS

by

Ron Negus

INTRODUCTION

For many years, both Jim and Ron Negus collected obituaries and other biographical material torn out of magazines they read – called Tear Sheets. Upon his retirement from philately, Jim gave his to Ron who combined them with his own collection and produced the index which follows. Naturally, there is no key to the magazine abbreviations since he held the original material, but they are generally common British and American publications. Misc. means miscellaneous unpublished material, often correspondence. Newspaper titles are generally given in full.

Since this is not my document, I have not carried out any editing of the text, nor are the abbreviations necessarily included in my list of abbreviations at the front of this document. (BJB)

NEGUS (4)

BIOGRAPHIES FROM STAMPS (US)

by

Ronald Negus

It is perfectly normal for journals to provide biographies in most if not every issue. However, most of these series are of living philatelists who could provide their own biographies either in person or through a correspondent. Ad hoc biographies of notable philatelists of an earlier day can also be found from time to time. It is however, quite unusual to find a series of biographies of important deceased philatelists written by those who were personally acquainted with them.

In 1932, Harry Lindquist in his newly-published American journal Stamps comissioned just such a series, most of which came from his good friend Charles James Phillips. Over the next four years, the journal provided well over 100 significant biographies which often contained anecdotes not published previously. This makes these an important source of biographical information, a point recognised by Ron Negus and hence this list. It is only provided as a guide to what was published as these biographies are listed separately under each person.

PHAMOUS PHILATELIC PHACES

by

Stanley M. Bierman, MD

This lecture was presented in San Francisco at the World International Exhibition in 1997. At the time, photographs could not be found of some of the individuals whose brief biographies were included. The file of slides that now accompany this document contains duplicate and new images that were not presented originally but which may be of importance in future biographical research.

Stanley M. Bierman

Editor's Notes:
These lecture notes were provided to me by Stan Bierman as a typescript, which I scanned and digitized using optical character recognition software. The software is far from perfect and it follows that this version may not be exactly as written by Stan. Accordingly, although I have not attempted to convert it to English spelling, I might not have all of the American spellings correct.

Stan also loaned me a large collection of slides which I scanned. I re-set the document to make it easier to read and inserted the photographs scanned from the slides he provided. As mentioned above, some images were missing and some were present that he did not refer to in his typescript.

On the 29th of May 2006, he also presented the lecture at WASHINGTON 2006 to the Collectors Club of New York and the set of images and the typescript used on that occasion were presented by him to the American Philatelic Research Library. There are a few differences between this later typescript and the original one, notably the insertion of a picture of Berger-Levrault's catalogue and the omission of the final section on forgers, in place of which he inserted some photographs of his library. He also took the opportunity of adding dates of death to those biographies where the subject had died between the two editions. These have been added to this version.

INTRODUCTION

It may be said that philately is a two dimensional hobby engaged in by individuals interested in colorful bits of engraved and gummed paper, while the world about is seen as a three dimensional experience. Let us in this presentation consider a fourth dimensional encounter, that being Einsteinium time. We shall embark by way of Kodachrome slides to another era in the recorded history of stamp collecting. Across barriers of time, the images and deeds of our philatelic forebears are present to examine, as gleaned from the yellowing pages of old periodicals and journals. I will be your guide to provide a brief historical overview of individuals who are believed to be interesting and briefly comment on their respective contribution to philately.

While these long-dead philatelists cannot speak to us, it is intriguing to draw select opinions, though surely imperfect judgments, of people by examining their photographs with a critical eye. In so doing, some might claim to deduce personal conclusions regarding the personality and character of the individual looking for subtle photographic clues on a portrait. This visual psycho-biographic-anthropologic analysis is surely on equal scientific footing as astrology, and one step above phrenology, so please don't place too much stake on your ability to judge character by examining a picture.

Nevertheless, I want you to carefully examine the people whose photographs are flashed before you. Look into the eyes of the stamp dealers, collectors, writers and journalists who are chronicled, and who stare back at you from across the space-time continuum. What do these flickering images of pioneer philatelists tell us about the praiseworthy qualities of their character, personality, enterprise, drive and ambition? What do the images tell us about the more base and corrupt qualities of avarice, greed, cunning and deceit found in a select few dealers and forgers?

Let us leave this non-scientific visual psycho-biographic conjecture. Instead let us travel to an era much different in spirit and lifestyle than the tumultuous, sometimes violent times in which we find ourselves today.

LET US BEGIN WITH THE EARLY MOVERS AND SHAKERS OF THE HOBBY AS WELL AS A FEW NOTABLE PHILATELIC PIONEERS

1. Sir Rowland Hill (1795-1879)

His keen insight into postal reform can be said to have profoundly changed the world. Schoolmaster from Kidderminster, Hill's principal lifetime interest was the improvement of the plodding and inefficient English postal system. Hill's pamphlet on Post Office Reform: Its Importance and Practicability which was published in January 1837 argued for a low, uniform rate of postage. Parliament adopted his scheme, and the one penny black was released for the general public's use on 6th May 1840.

2. François George Oscar Berger-Levrault (1825-1903)

Head of a large printing and publishing firm in Strasbourg, he was a notable philatelic pioneer. In August 1861 Berger-Levrault compiled and published the first handwritten list of postage stamps which was printed by auto-lithography and mailed to friends for private circulation.

3-5. Frederick W. Booty (1840-1924)

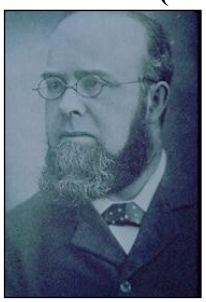
An artist by profession, he was the author of Aids to Stamp Collecting. Published in April 1862, it was the first English handbook and catalogue.

4. Booty's second publication, printed in August 1862, was The Stamp Collectors Guide: Being a List of English and Foreign Postage Stamps with 200 Facsimile Drawings. This was the first publication to include drawings of postage stamps of the era, and produced when the artist was 22 years old.

5. Example of page in the Bierman Philatelic Library from Booty's Stamp Collectors Guide demonstrating its crude representation of US issues.

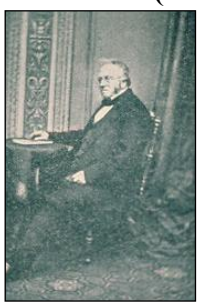
6. Mount Brown (1837-1919)

A London business merchant and early cataloguer, Brown began to collect stamps in 1860. He was one of a select coterie of English stamp collectors who met on Saturday afternoon to discuss stamps at the Rectory of All Hallows' Staining on Mark Lane.



7. Dr. John Edward Gray (1800-1875)

An eminent naturalist and keeper of the zoology collection at the British Museum, his Hand Catalogue of Postage Stamps published towards the end of 1862 was the third English philatelic catalogue. It was the most scientific of the early handbooks in its treatment and classification of stamps.



8. John Walter Scott (1845-1919)

Well-known American dealer-publisher acquired the sobriquet of The Father of American Philately. Starting in 1859 with a small cache of postage stamps, he showed his wares on street corners in London. Scott emigrated to America in 1863 and set up an outdoor stand in City Hall Park in New York City. His single page Monthly Price List, published in June 1867, was the rock on which Scott's Standard Postage Stamp Catalogue was founded.

9. Henry L. Calman (1863-1935)

Henry L. Calman Gus B. Calman

Henry Calman and his brother Gus B. Calman formed a syndicate in June 1886 with Henry Collin to purchase the Scott Stamp and Coin Company. The new company purchased the stock, rights, title and good will of John W. Scott's philatelic enterprise. Three years later, in 1889 John W. Scott reopened his stamp business, notwithstanding covenants in the business agreement for the sale to the Calmans. The Calmans, of course, sued Scott, but Scott's right to engage in this new philatelic business venture was upheld by the U.S. Supreme Court which ruled that, ....no man can sign away his right to make a living by the only means available to him.

10. J. E. Handshaw (1855-1923)

This sleepy visage is that of a New York businessman, who purchased the resurrected John W. Scott Company Ltd. enterprise in November 1916 for $10,000 cash and a note for $30,000, from the retiring pioneer dealer. Without Scott at the helm, the business failed in 1919.

11. Hugh M. Clark (1887-1956)

Chicago stamp dealer, he joined the staff of Scott Stamp and Coin Company in 1912. Two years later Charles Hatfield, a Boston banker, purchased the Scott firm, hiring Clark as its manager. Clark purchased the Scott company in 1938. His major contribution was the development of a new system of Scott catalogue numbers.

12. Norman Serphos (1890-1974)

He purchased the retail business along with rights to the name Scott Stamp & Coin Company from Hugh Clark. Serphos was President of the Company from 1938 to 1956, and acquired many important 1847 blocks in the early 1940s. His sale of Historical Flown Covers through Harmer, Rooke New York in 1941 was a major, but largely-ignored, aerophilately auction.

13. Gordon Harmer (1906-)

Son of Ernest Harmer and head of Harmer, Rooke New York, he purchased Scott Publications in 1946 from the retiring Hugh Clark. Gordon Harmer continued until the sale of the Scott Publications to Esquire Magazine in 1960. Harmer was a prime mover in the establishment of the Philatelic Foundation.

14-17. Edward Stanley Gibbons (1840-1913)

Gibbons' early philatelic career in Plymouth, England was sharply bolstered following his acquisition of a large cache of Cape of Good Hope issues from sailors. In 1865 Gibbons published his Descriptive Price List ... from London and later introduced catalogue numbers for stamps. Gibbons became the premier firm in the English stamp trade. In 1890, he began The Monthly Journal, edited by Charles J. Phillips to whom Gibbons later sold his business interest.

15-16. Picture of the Strand shop of E. Stanley Gibbons and another of salesmen and customers.

17. This is an example of Gibbons' Price List and Catalogue for November 1865.

18. Eustace B. Power (1872-1939)

He initially forged philatelic alliances with J. C. Morgenthau in 1893, and later became proprietor of the New York branch of Stanley Gibbons Ltd. He was one of the first buyers of the Caroll Hoy correspondence, but turned down Robey's offer of the pane of 24c airmail inverts as twentieth century trash. He published a series of pamphlets in the 1930s entitled Philatelic Horse Sense.

19. Charles James Phillips (1863-1940)

Birmingham stamp dealer who became managing director of Stanley Gibbons in 1890. Under his capable management the firm catered to kings and princes, and catapulted Gibbons into international prominence. Phillips came to New York in 1922 where he specialized in classic stamps and handled many great collections including Waterhouse US. According to Pat Herst, he died in a New York City charity hospital, but not before marrying his nurse who got possession of his philatelic estate.

21. William S. Lincoln (1844-1922)

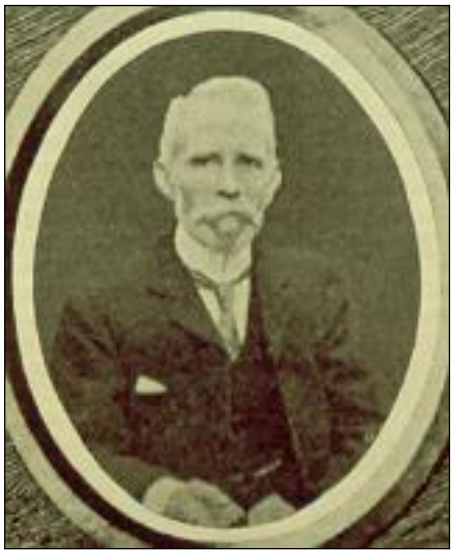
The first London stamp dealer and early doyen of the trade. He is best known for his Lincoln Illustrated Stamp Album.

22. Henry Stafford Smith (1843-1903)



Second oldest British stamp firm established 1861 in Bath, England. H. Stafford Smith began The Stamp Collectors' Magazine in February 1863, which journal continued for twelve years. He joined in partnership with his brother Alfred Smith (1837-1880). H. Stafford Smith moved to Brighton in 1866 and his brother Alfred started his own firm taking over publication of The Stamp Collectors' Magazine. Stafford Smith started The Philatelist in December 1866 which distinguished journal came to serialize the famous Spud Papers. The Smith brothers were best known for sending Rowland Hill brand packets of stamps to clients on approval.

23. Charles W. Viner (1812-1907)

Founding member of the Philatelic Society, London and notable stamp collector. He was editor of both of H. Stafford Smith's publications The Stamp Collectors' Magazine and later The Philatelist.

24-25. Charles Whitfield King (1855-1944)

Stamp dealer who foreswore central London and moved to the countryside where he established in Morpeth House a major wholesale and retail stamp business. He is best remembered for a remarkable room in his Ipswich home which was artistically decorated with a mosaic consisting of 61,242 postage stamps.

26. Hugo Griebert (1867-1924)

Strand, London stamp dealer, established in 1882, who catered to a wealthy clientele. He was a philatelic scholar and wrote Stamps of Uruguay (1910) and Stamps of Spain (1919) which won him the Crawford Medal in 1920. He represented Arthur Hind at the Ferrary sale.

27. William Henry Peckitt (1868-1934)

Strand, London dealer specializing in rarities, who sold several Post Office Mauritius rarities including the pair of one penny on cover. He purchased the Avery Collection of British Colonials in 1909 for a record $120,000, bought portions of the Crawford Collection in 1912, and sold his business in 1913 to Charles J. Phillips.

28. Thomas Ridpath (1850-1900)

Liverpool stamp dealer who sold the one cent black on magenta British Guiana to Ferrary, and the used block of six 24c US 1869 Pictorial invert to William Thorne.

29. Judge Frederick Adolphus Philbrick (1835-1910)

One of the founders of the Philatelic Society, London, he sold his great collection of Great Britain to Ferrary in 1882 for a then staggering sum of £8,000.

30. Dr. Jacques Amable Legrand (1820-1912)

French dealer and so-called Father of Scientific Philately, he was instrumental in founding the French School of Stamp Collecting. He invented the perforation gauge and published many works under the pseudonym of Dr. Magnus.

31. Theodore Champion (1873-1954)

Leading French dealer and publisher of Yvert, Tellier and Champion stamp catalogues, his shop at 13 Rue Druot in Paris became a Mecca for most sophisticated and well-heeled collectors.

32. Jean Baptiste Moens (1833-1908)

A book dealer in Brussels who produced many pioneering works including On The Falsification of Postage Stamps, Les Timbres-Poste Illustres, along with his publication the periodical Le Timbre-Post which was issued between 1863 and 1900. It is believed that Moens' 1864 edition of Manuel du Collectionneur de Timbres-Poste, one of the first illustrated catalogues, served as a model for forgeries produced by S. Allan Taylor.

33. Louis Hanciau (1845-1924)

Referred to as the Grandfather of Philately was brother-in-law of Moens. It has been claimed that all the literature with Moens' imprimatur between 1862 and 1890 was written and prepared by Hanciau.

34. Arthur Maury (1844-1907)

Founder of the famous Parisian stamp house that bears his name. Pioneer authority on philately, and publisher of the periodical Le Collectionneur de Timbres-Poste which was started in 1864.

Despite accusations of producing bogus French cancellations and reprints of US locals, he served as honorary president of the French Philatelic Society.

LET US NEXT TURN TO PHILATELIC JOURNALISTS AND WRITERS

35. Major Edward Benjamin Evans (1846-1922)

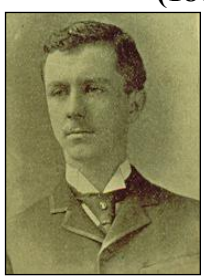
59. Frederick W. Hunter (1864-1919)

Organized the Nassau Stamp Company in 1894 and sold to John Klemann in 1900. The same year his superb US collection was offered through the Scott Stamp and Coin Company's 149th sale, including the pair of used 24c Pictorial inverts, cut from the ex-Thorne block of six. He figured in a lurid divorce scandal serialized in the New York Times between 1916-18, suing his ex-philatelic partner for alienation of his wife's affections.

60. Bertrand Drew (1868-1928)



Early Boston dealer began stamp auctions in 1894, and in 1903 he initiated Gems of Philately sales. He sold his firm in 1917 to Daniel Kelleher, although Drew did return for second series (1921-28) of auction sales offering Dr. W.C. Bowers and Clarence Eagle material.

61. Phillip Mathias Wolsieffer (1857-1934)

Well known dealer began career in Chicago with long-running auction sales and later moved to Philadelphia. Noted as the inventor of the approval card, he became president of the American Philatelic Society in 1924.

62. Albert W. Batchelder (1857-1941)

Manager of the New England Stamp Company of Boston who acquired the Thorne collection of US for $45,000 in 1899, that included the block of six used 24c 1869 Pictorial invert. In 1903 he sold the Mandel collection of US proofs and essays to the Earl of Crawford for $30,000. He acquired the Fred W. Ayer superb US collection in 1905 for $90,000 consisting of the largest single stamp purchases made to those respective dates. In 1901 he consolidated his business with the Scott Stamp and Coin Company under the auspices of The American Stamp Collectors Company a consortium formed by Webster Knight, Joseph Rich and the New England Stamp Company.

63. J. Murray Bartels (1872-1944)

Washington, Boston and then New York stamp dealer most noted for his publications on US embossed envelopes, postal cards. Long running auction sales under his imprimatur from 1902-1943.

64. Warren Colson (1882-1963)

Leading Boston stamp dealer noted for his purchase of major pieces at Ferrary and Hind auctions, who helped build the Lapham Postmaster's Provisionals collection. Initially started his career under Batchelder working for New England Stamp Company.

65. John A. Klemann (1879-1955)

Philadelphia stamp dealer and auctioneer, who collected. Best known for his purchase of the sheet of Flying Jenny inverts for Col. Edward Green, he was the first President of Nassau Stamp Company and a major dealer in US proofs and essays who handled the Lord Crawford dispersal. Held auction sales between 1907-1939. He was editor of The Philatelic Gazette.

66. Eugene Klein (1878-1944)

Helped build the Henry Gibson collection. President of American Philatelic Congress.

67-68. A. Krassa (1864-1937) & Benjamin (Bill) Homan, Jr. (1904-1976)

Nassau Street partners and dealers between 1926 and 1937. No one knows what the A stands for in Krassa's name. Homan put together a world class British Commonwealth collection.

69. Daniel Kelleher (1886-1971)

Boston dealer began sales in 1917 from retiring Bertrand Drew. His auction house is notable for Carroll Chase, A. B. Slater, William O. Sweet and Judge Emerson sales. Because of health problems, he sold his firm to Stanley Richmond in 1966.

70. George Sloane (1898-1958)

New York dealer-auctioneer who handled the dispersal of Johl's 20th Century Commemoratives. He was a popular journalist best known for Sloane's Column.

71. Souren Yohannessiantz (Y. Souren) (1892-1949)

Russian-Georgian who became a New York dealer and auctioneer, he had an unpronounceable second name. For business purposes he reversed his name for convenience. He owned many blocks of four of US classic stamps, including the used block of four of the 24c US 1869 pictorial invert (ex-Crocker). Souren placed the latter between glass slides, slipped it into his coat pocket, and showed the rarity to startled clients. He developed photographic techniques to detect fraudulent cancellations and spurious inks.

72. Edward Stern (1880-1953)

Owner of the Economist Stamp Company who unsuccessfully attempted to sell the Eagle Match-Medicine Collection by private treaty. He purchased the Nicholas Waterhouse collection in 1929 for $100,000, reselling it en-bloc to Charles Phillips. Stern possessed the greatest free franking collection ever assembled.

73. Gordon Nowell-Usticke (1894-1978)

Left England in 1920 and started the Pilgrim Stamp Company. Manager of Stanley Gibbons Inc., he bought the interest in the New York firm in 1927 from Eustace B. Power. While Gibbons had established branch offices of the parent firm in 1902 in New York City, the American branch was not connected with its English parent. Also pictured is Henry E. Harris (1902-1978): Founder of "The World's Largest Stamp Firm", his Boston-based operation grew into 400 employees. He popularized marketing of stamps in packets, and a youthful Stanley M. Bierman purchased a number of these colorful stamp packets for his Scott's Postage Stamp Album.

74. Herman Toaspern (1893-1936)

New York dealer who held auction sales between 1924-1934. He was a founder of The Hot Stove League and known affectionately as Toasty. He handled the important Prosser find of US postal history in 1924, and Chase's Steamboat Cancels in 1926. Pat Herst claims that Toaspern once hosted a cocktail party, and the New York dealer and his wife greeted guests in the buff!

75. Max Ohlman (1881-1957)

Nassau Street dealer with auction sales between 1915 and 1942 who sponsored F. D. Roosevelt's membership in American Philatelic Society. Ohlman was the first president of the American Stamp Dealers' Association.

76. Frank Marquis (1896-1942)

New York dealer with auction sales from 1922-1932 who bought the Boscawen Postmaster Provisional on a lark at the 1933 Hind US auction and couldn't pay for it. He disappeared from his New York apartment in 1939 and showed up three months later in San Francisco, a victim of amnesia. According to Pat Herst, Marquis ended his days in a mental institution.

77. Robert Alexander Siegel (1913-1933)

Influential New York philatelic auctioneer with over 738 sales, starting in 1931 from humble beginnings in Kansas City, MO.

78. John Fox (1911-1988)

Colorful New York dealer and auctioneer, once the leading figure in American philately who fell on hard times over suspicion of fraudulent manufacture of postal history material.

79. Raymond Weill (1913-2003)

New Orleans philatelic dealer and his recently deceased brother Roger, through whose small shop on Royal Street has passed most of the aristocrats of American philately. Their incredible stock was sold in 1989 to Hambro's Bank of London which consigned the material to Christie's Robson Lowe in a series of sales held between 1989 and 1990.

80. Herman "Pat" Herst (1909-1998)

The most prolific philatelic journalist who ever laid ink to paper and America's premier story teller.

81. Ezra Cole (1902-1992)

Veteran philatelic dealer from Nyack, New York who was an important link in the formation of many world class stamp collections including Gibson, Emerson, Caspary and Lilly. He is best remembered for the small leather wallet in which he carried many of his philatelic gems.

82. Sylvester Colby (1904-1984)

Most noted for his sales of philatelic literature of "Kings", Ralph Kimble and Philip Ward Libraries.

83. Irwin Heiman (1906-1977)

New York auctioneer, starting as the Metro Stamp Company, he specialized in Mexico and aerophilately with auction sales held between 1929 and 1975.

84. Clarence Wilson Brazer (1880-1956)

Founder and first president of the Essay Proof Society. Noted architect, he gave up his profession to pursue his hobby interest and became doyen of the specialty.

85. Nicholas Sanabria (1880-1945)

New York dealer noted for his interest in aerophilately with auction sales from 1931-1939.

LET US NOW EXAMINE SOME ENGLISH AND FOREIGN DEALERS

86. Henry Revel Harmer (1869-1966)

Founder of London and New York auction house. His rise to international prominence followed the sale of the Arthur Hind collection.

87. Ernest G. Harmer (1877-1937)

He founded one of oldest standing British auction firms, he started Harmer Rooke, London in 1905 after the purchase of Martin Ray and Company. He added the Ventom, Bull & Cooper auction firm and was in competition with his brother Henry during the 1920s and 30s.

88. Bernard Harmer (1913-present)

Son of Henry R. Harmer and currently, the retired Chief Executive Officer of world-wide Harmer organization.

89. Francis Hugh Vallancey (1880-1950)

British journalist and editor of Stamp Collecting and A Stamp Collectors' Guide to Philatelic Literature, whose wonderful philatelic stock (including much of the Bacon library) was tragically lost in the Blitz of London. He rebuilt his stock which was sold just prior to his death to Ramsay Stewart.

90. Robson Lowe (1906-1997)

Premier London dealer, journalist and acknowledged doyen of philatelic auctioneers. His encyclopedic writing on British Colonial issues is well known throughout the philatelic world.

91. Edwin Mueller (1891-1962)

New York dealer of 19th century Europe with emphasis on Austria. Associated himself with Otto Friedl and established the Mercury Stamp Company in 1938.

92 Herbert Bloch (1908-1987)
Partner in the Mercury Stamp Company, he was a philatelic scholar whose knowledge of stamps was encyclopedic. In 1948 he set up the Friedl Expert Committee in association with Edwin Mueller and Otto Friedl. He later served as Chairman of the expert committee of the. Philatelic Foundation

HERE ARE SOME EXAMPLES OF FAMOUS COLLECTORS

93. Phillip von Ferrary (1849-1917)
Eccentric heir to the family fortune, he became the greatest stamp collector of all times forming the consummate collection of philatelic rarities.

94. Thomas Keay Tapling (1855-1891)
English gentleman whose superb collection of British Colonials was donated, following his untimely death at age 36, to the British Museum in 1892. The 280 volumes of stamps were received with great reluctance by the Museum following intercession by Prince George, later King George V, who convinced them to accept the philatelic gift.

95. Frederick Andreas Breitfuss (1851-1911)
Son of Russian Court Jeweler, he came to London in 1873 where be joined the Philatelic Society, London. He returned two years later to Russia where he built a vast collection of stamps. When his collection was sold by private treaty in 1907 to Charles J. Phillips, critics said that it was second only to that of the fabled Ferrary.

96. Sir William Avery (1854-1908)
English country gentleman whose magnificent collection of British Colonials was acquired in 1909 by Peckitt a London stamp dealer for $120,000.

97. John Seybold (1858-1910)
"Father of Postal History", he is believed to have committed suicide as a consequence of the revelation of his homosexuality in a prudish post-Victorian America.

98. Hiram Deats (1870-1963)
Better known for his interest in philatelic literature, Deats was an American Ferrary owning, in the late 19th century, the most complete US classic, postmasters' provisional and Confederate States of America collections extant.

99. George Worthington (1850-1924)

Portly railroad magnate who put together the finest world collection extant, only to see his stamp treasures lost to receivers following bad business investments.

100. Alpheus B. Slater (1860s-1936)

Providence, RI civil engineer who assembled one of the finest US 1847 and 1869 Pictorial collection extant, who is better known for his collection of Providence, RI Postmaster's Provisionals.

101. William H. Crocker (1861-1937)

California banker and heir to the railroad fortune established by his father. He put together a great world collection including the famous unique used block of four 24c US 1869 Pictorial invert.

102. Ernest Ackerman (1863-1931)

US Congressman from New Jersey, dealer-collector who acquired most of the essay-proof collection through Klemann following the death of the Earl of Crawford.

103. Clarence Eagle (1856-1922)

Assembled the finest US Match-Medicine Collection and then couldn't find a buyer, giving his prize as a gift to the Smithsonian Institution.

104. Joseph Steinmetz (1870-1928)

Noted aerophilatelic pioneer best remembered for his ignoble role in the Blue Paper Scandal of 1909.

105. Arthur Hind (1856-1933)

Fabric and plush manufacturer who was major buyer at Ferrary sale. Owner of the one cent black on magenta British Guiana, he also acquired numerous US postmaster provisionals which he pasted to album pages with Bandaids!

106. Henry C. Gibson (1885-1987)

Philadelphia banker who put together one of the greatest classic US collections ever formed and sold off pieces to other Philadelphia residents through Philip H. Ward.

107. Wharton Sinkler, Jr. (1885-1967)

Recipient of many of ex-Gibson rarities through Ward. Sinkler prematurely sold his superb US collection to another Philadelphia banker in 1926, Edward R. Wood, only to see the new owner receive a gold award at the International Philatelic Exhibition.

108. Philip Ward (1890-1963)

Philadelphia dealer-collector and stamp columnist who chronicled the hobby in Mekeel's Weekly Stamp News. He collected the gems of philately with ambitions of collecting every classic item in blocks of four.

109. Robert S. Emerson (1876-1937)

Rhode Island judge referred to by John Luff as The Universal Specialist who formed a major US collection sold through Daniel Kelleher in the pre and post World War II era.

110. Benjamin K. Miller (1857-1928)

Milwaukee real estate magnate whose stellar US collection was donated to the New York Public Library. The Library's cavalier attitude towards the care of the bequest led to the theft of major pieces.

111. Webster Knight (1854-1933)

Rhode Island banker and cotton manufacturer whose superb US block of four collection was donated to Brown University. In contrast to the B. K. Miller bequest, this collection is well maintained and is in safe keeping.

112. Henry Lapham (1875-1939)

Scion to Texaco fortune whose US Postmasters' Provisional collection was the finest ever assembled, and after his passing it was acquired through private treaty by John Boker.

113. Colonel Edward H. R. Green (1868-1936)

Son of the Hetty Green, the famous Witch of Wall Street, he is often remembered for his philandering life style. This peg-legged giant with a penchant for "adopting" young girls, owned the largest collection of pornographic material extant. He amassed one of the world's largest and most expensive stamp collections that was dispersed in 28 sales between 1942 and 1946, although the x-rated material did not appear at auction.

114. Alfred Lichtenstein (1876-1947)

Ciba-Giegy founder who acquired the Worthington Collection in 1917 with a briefcase of money to "cherry pick" Mauritius and British Colonies. He bequeathed his great collection to his equally distinguished daughter, Louise Boyd Dale.

115. Admiral Frederick R. Harris (1875-1949)

Appointed Chairman of Jury at CIPEX in New York in 1947 following the sudden death of Alfred Lichtenstein. His collections of Hawaii, Ceylon and Italian States were the finest extent and sold through Harmer, Rooke during the period 1950-54. He financed the classic book on Hawaii and was voted into the American Philatelic Society Hall of Fame in 1950.

116. Col. Hans Lagerloef (1880-1952)

A Swedish-born philatelist, he endeavored to specialize in the world and formed literally hundreds of collections. Made donations of major portions of his collection to the Swedish Postal Museum of Stockholm and attempted (unsuccessfully) to write the charitable donation off his United States income tax. Many of his collections including gold medal Sweden and Brazil as well as Mexico, Argentine Republic and British Colonies were sold by H. R. Harmer in the period 1942 to 1955.

117. Alfred Caspary (1878-1955)

New York stock broker and who assembled in his lifetime the pick of the finest stamps extant. His collection was sold in a series of landmark auctions held by Harmer New York between 1955 and 1957.

118. Nicholas Waterhouse (1877-1964)

Scion to the accounting firm, this English philatelist assembled and then sold over a philatelic lifetime three different outstanding US collections in the time frame 1924 to 1955.

119. Josiah K. Lilly (1893-1966)

Descendant of famous pharmaceutical founder, this Indianapolis philatelist was interested only in the finest of mint stamps of the world. A major buyer at the Caspary auction, he acquired most of the Mandel-Ackerman collection of US proofs and essays.

120. Maurice Burrus (1882-1959)

Alsace tobacco heir, whose voluminous collection of rarities and stamps the world will probably never be equaled in depth, sophistication and beauty. His collection was initially offered through Paul Singer of Shanahan Stamp Auctions prior to the bankruptcy of the Irish firm. The Burrus collection was subsequently sold through eight sales by a consortium of stamp dealers headed by Robson Lowe.

121. Hugh Southgate (1871-1940)
Enjoyed friendship with parties in the Bureau of Engraving and Printing, he became president of the Bureau Issues Association. Was privately given large die proofs of contemporary US issues in appreciation of his efforts.

122. George Walcott (1871-1932)
Mr. CSA whose collection of Civil War Patriotics and Confederate Postmaster Provisionals (ex-Ackerman) set a benchmark in detail and sophistication. His 5c/10c US 1847 issues were acquired by Scott Stamps and his lesser known collection of aerophilately was sold through auction by J. C. Morgenthau.

123. F. Van Dyk MacBride (1893-1961)
An early expert on US grilled issues, he was an investment banker and prolific writer on CSA. He is most noted for his handbook on Civil War Patriotics and was founder of the Confederate Stamp Alliance.

124. Theodore Steinway (1882-1957)
Member of a family of piano manufacturers, he has been referred to as the Renaissance Man of American Philately because of his broad based interests. He provided the money to Collectors Club New York to purchase the Suppantschitsch philatelic library.

125. Saul Newbury (1870-1950)
Chicago department store executive and Mr. lc 1851 who put together the finest collection extant and then underwrote the cost of Stanley Ashbrook's book on the subject. Also possessed superb collection of Brazil Bull's Eyes.

126. Mortimer Neinken (1896-1984)
Student and scholar noted for his The United States One Cent Stamp of 1851-1861. Served on the expert committee of the Philatelic Foundation and was winner of many philatelic honors for service to the hobby.

127. Marc Haas (1907-1989)
Businessman with outstanding collection of US postal history which was sold to Stanley Gibbons in 1979 for $11,000,000 with disastrous results when the English firm could not resell many rarities.

128. John Boker (1913-2003)
Arguably the greatest living philatelist with broad based collecting interests whose 1985 to 1988 sales of his Germany and German States set new auction benchmarks with $25,000,000 gross.

129. Ryohei Ishikawa (1927-present)
Japanese philatelist who dispersed his magnificent collections of US lc 1851-57 and Hawaii through Christie's but could not find a buyer at $12,000,000 for his classic US stamp collection.

130. Erivan Haub (1932-present)
German owner of Tengelmann Group a giant supermarket chain with 53% ownership of America's A & P markets. He is currently the pre-eminent buyer of world stamp rarities and will probably not show at stamp exhibitions.

LET US END WITH A SMATTERING OF PHILATELIC FORGERS

131-132. Henry K. Jarrett (1904-1959)
Master forger from Bethlehem, Pennsylvania who produced fake Annapolis and Millbury Postmaster's Provisionals sold to Caspary. Actually formed his own auction firm to peddle his postmaster's forgeries. Under court order he was forced to cease and desist at risk of jail sentence and a pay a fine of $2,000. The Jarrett dies ink, paper and other printing paraphernalia are now in the custody of the Smithsonian Institution.

133. Dr. Paul Singer (1911-????)
Imposing philatelic con artist whose scam entailed convincing unsuspecting clients to invest in stamps from the Shanahan Stamp Company for a guaranteed profit. His guilty verdict was overturned when it was learned that the foreman of the jury that convicted him had lost money in the scam. Singer disappeared from an Ireland jail while awaiting arraignment with several million dollars of his client's money. It was rumored that he escaped to the Canary Islands and was never seen again.

134. Joseph Casey (????-????)
Editor of 1874 American Journal of Philately in which capacity he wrote articles about Berford California Express Company, and prepared forgeries of the issue from new stones. Following his dismissal by Scott, and notwithstanding being expelled in 1887 from the National Philatelic Society of New York, Casey ran a successful auction company from New York with George Leavitt between 1886 and 1896.

PART 5

PHILATELIC AUTHORS AND OUTSTANDING PHILATELISTS

INTRODUCTION

My original intention for this Section was to list everyone who has written and published anything related to philately in one alphabetical sequence, and give details of all the books, periodical articles, etc. that they had written.

This was originally expected to occupy 12 issues, but it became obvious that at least 2 to 3 more would be needed. Also, the authors were listed with their monographs in Part III, and their periodical articles in Part IV, so I thought is as well to abandon this plan.

Hence, this Section will only mention those philatelic writers and outstanding philatelists, accounts of whom, or of whose work, have appeared in the philatelic literature.

V. Suppantschitsch

Many of the references are to reviews of the important works of the authors listed. I have tried to provide enough detail, by translating Suppantschitsch's notes, to allow users to understand what to expect from each reference. However, this was often far from obvious even to me. In so far as I could, I have given actual titles if pieces in italics.

Volume or year numbers are given in Roman capitals. The second numeral is the issue number. In many cases the publisher's name or the city of publication follow the title of the periodical to avoid ambiguity.

John Holman

BACKGROUND

I had known of John Holman through both of the important philatelic magazines he edited over a remarkable twenty-five years, to both of which I was a subscriber. However, it was not until early 2008 that he contacted me by email regarding my book the Biographies of Philatelists and Dealers which had not long since appeared on the shelves of the National Philatelic Society's Library and also in the Royal Philatelic Society London's Library.

During our exchanges, John advised me that he had also created a list of philatelists and dealers that he used in his editorial role. We agreed to exchange resources although he insisted that no publicity was given to his. In due course, a printout of his list appeared through the post.

Within two years his role as editor of the British Philatelic Bulletin had been outsourced and I presume that he no longer added to his list. We met from time to time at the Royal and discussed various philatelic matters but never the list of Biographies.

John died on the 10th June 2017 at the relatively early age of sixty-seven. His family held a celebration of his life at the premises of the RPSL, made available through the good offices of his cousin David Beech, a former President of the Society. All of his friends and correspondents were invited, including myself. During discussions with John's brother, Richard, I brought up John's list of biographies, of which he had no knowledge. I offered to host it under John's name as an appendix to my Biographies of Philatelists and Dealers book in order not to lose it for posterity. Richard readily agreed to this.

John was very liberal with his lists as he sent a copy to Ron Negus on the 5th October 2000 and noted in the enclosed letter that he had also supplied copies to Jim Negus and James Mackay. These three recipients are now dead and none of their copies have surfaced in spite of the fact that I received all of the biographical archives of the Negus brothers. Since I now have the only known copy of John's list, I have had it typed onto computer by my good friend Anne Drinkwater. The original will be bound and added to my library for eventual donation to the RPSL.

SMITH BROTHERS
Alfred and Henry Stafford. Established at 13 George Street, Bath, 1863, when published Stamp Collectors Magazine. Moved to Queen Square House, Bath by 1865.

SOCIETY FOR THE SUPPRESSION OF SPECULATIVE STAMPS
Special Committee of the Philatelic Society London formed March 1895 to consider 'the best means to be adopted to put a stop to the scandal of "stamps which had no postal requirements being produced mainly for sale to collectors". At a meeting with the trade and philatelic press in 6 May it was agreed to outlaw the practise, the SSS was formed on 10 May. M. P. Castle was elected President with Major Evans Vice President (he collated information on new issues and varieties for Stanley Gibbons Monthly Journal). H. R. Oldfield was Secretary to the Special Committee. J. A. Tilleard member of the Committee and Gordon Smith, Secretary of the SSS. The SGMJ contained the serially numbered Circular from July 1895 to February 1898. Dealers however dealt in the speculative issues and the increasing number of less discriminating collectors led to the demise of the SSSS.
