PRESS RELEASE

A magnificent gift for 'Tomorrow's Royal'

The Royal Philatelic Society London has received an extremely generous gift of £750,000 towards its 'Tomorrow's Royal' appeal. The gift has been made available by the Trustees of the Spear Charitable Trust, and falls within its objectives of providing benefit to educational projects, training, the arts, culture, heritage and conservation.

The Trustees of the Trust have a close connection with the Society through its former Honorary Treasurer, Nigel Gooch.

The Society, in recognition of this wonderful act of generosity, has agreed to name its museum, The Spear Museum of Philatelic History, an act that has been enthusiastically received by the Trustees of the Spear Charitable Trust.

The 'Tomorrow's Royal' on-going appeal follows the Society's move to a new home in the City of London, at 15 Abchurch Lane, from where it plans to enhance both its own public image and of the hobby of philately through its extraordinary and extensive museum, archives and library. The gift will provide an invaluable impetus towards achieving this goal.
